Senate Wets Organize To Slash Enforcement Fund

SEN. TYDINGS PLANNING TO LEAD BATTLE

Declares Will Move to Cut Out Entire Appropriation on Senate Floor WANTS RECORD VOTE

Prohibition Approaching Senate on Two Fronts as Session Nears End

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Senate wets on the eve of consideration of 18th amendment repeal were organizing today for an attempt to hamstring prohibition enforcement by slashing the dry fund.

The House sliced 10 per cent from the appropriation with which Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock and his agents endeavor to keep the country on a non-alcoholic diet. A senate appropriations sub-committee cut 10 per cent more from the $5,440,000 approved by the House but was overruled by the full committee.

"I'll move on the floor to cut it all out and if I can't do that I'll move to cut it in half," Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, said today. "If I can get a 50 per cent cut, I'll run the scale step by step down to 10 per cent."

"I want a record vote on spending the taxpayers' money in this way when there are 12,000,000 people out of work and the treasury is accumulating a deficit of staggering proportions."

Prohibition is approaching the senate on two fronts by reason of tentative agreement to begin debate on repeal when the pending war department appropriation bill is passed perhaps today. It would be possible at any time to lay the repeal resolution aside for consideration of the four department supply bill which contains the enforcement appropriation.

Repeal will be a sham fight unless senate leaders are able to persuade Speaker Garner to abandon opposition to modified abandonment of the 18th amendment. As approved by the senate judiciary committee, the resolution would repeal the 18th amendment but would replace it with a perpetuation of federal police power to prohibit return of the saloon and protect dry states against their wet neighbors.

MUTINEERS PLANNED TO TURN PIRATES

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 11.—(UP)—The mutinous crew of the Dutch cruiser De Zeven Provinciën, forced to surrender when the cruiser was bombed by a naval seaplane, planned to turn pirate and loot trading ships if supplies ran short, reports from the East Indies said today.

Twenty-two men were killed and 25 injured when a 100 pound bomb exploded on the cruiser's deck. It was reported that the mutineers planned until the release of 400 of their comrades arrested at Sourabaya for demonstrating against wage cuts.

The cruiser De Zeven Provinciën was only slightly damaged and is proceeding under her own steam to Batavia, the ministry of colonies said. The mutineers will be imprisoned pending trial by court-martial.

NEW STORM IS REPORTED OVER MIDDLE WEST

Frigid Wave Sweeps Down From Canada; Said to Be Worst in Years

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—(UP)—A new cold wave swept down from northern Canada toward the middle west today as the nation barely recovered from the worst blizzard in 34 years.

South winds that brought relief from temperatures ranging downward to 50 degrees below zero shifted to the northwest. The local United States weather bureau predictions mercury would drop to 10 below by tomorrow.

Reports from northern states said the new storm was "the worst in years." Temperatures dropped in a few hours to low levels of a few days ago.

Central states, which suffered the heaviest toll in the 150 casualties of the first storm, will bear the brunt of the new frigid spell, the weather bureau said.

Another heavy snowfall will accompany the storm, predictions said.

Temperatures in St. Paul dropped again to below zero after the first day in a week above that point. Montana, North Dakota and other states along the Canadian border began to feel effects of the storm today.

More snow fell in New York and along the Atlantic seaboard, where temperatures had risen from their sub zero levels.

Sleet and rainstorms were predicted for southern states. Weather was expected to be considerably warmer in southern sections.

FIGHT OVER TENNIS RANKING POSTPONED

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Harry Knox of Chicago was today elected president of the United Lawn Tennis association, succeeding Louis J. Carruthers of New York, but the expected fight over rankings did not materialize in the annual meeting.

Samuel Hardy, member of the ranking committee, requested that additional time be allowed in which new data and suggestions may be studied. Hardy pointed out that severe criticism had been voiced and printed over the proposed rankings and suggested that the matter be studied further. The association voted to do this and sometimes during the next few weeks the executive committee will pass upon the revised list.

Carruthers told the association that a profit of $30,000 had been realized in 1932 and said he regarded this "as a real achievement in view of existing conditions." The association showed a loss of $9000 in 1931.

JAPAN INTERPRETS PRATT'S DECISION

TOKIO, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Rear Admiral William V. Pratt's decision to keep the American Atlantic fleet, as well as the Pacific fleet in Pacific waters until July 1, 1934, is due to American uneasiness over the Japanese situation, authoritative sources here believed today.

Secretary of Navy Francis Adams who declares proposed cut in naval funds would imperil national defense.

SECRETARY OF NAVY OPPOSES CUT IN FUNDS

Declares Reduction Would Cripple National Defense for Years

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Secretary of Navy Adams today asserted the reduction of naval funds proposed by the senate would "cripple our national defense for years" and leave this country with only 56 per cent as many warships as Japan in active service.

Adams' declaration followed an announcement by Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, that the entire United States fleet would be kept in the Pacific until July 1, 1934.

Disturbed conditions in the far east were regarded by some naval officials as a factor in this decision, and in Adams' plea against the cut.

WEEK CARLOADINGS SHOW BIG INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(UP)—The American Railway association today announced that carloadings for the week of February 4 amounted to 43,192 cars, an increase of 11,104 cars over the preceding week.

Total loadings, however, were 90,731 below the corresponding week of 1932 and 235,861 under that same week in 1931.

Miscellaneous freight loadings for the week of February 4 totaled 152,306 cars, a decrease of 274 below the preceding week.

Loading of merchandise less than carload lot freight totaled 161,980 cars, an increase of 1212 cars above the preceding week.

HITLER MAKES FIRST ADDRESS TO ELECTORATE

Appeals to Nation to Save Itself Without Help From Outsiders

BERLIN, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler appealed to the German nation to save itself without hoping for outside aid, in his first address in the general election campaign in which the Nazis seek a clear parliamentary majority.

"Don't believe in help from others," Hitler told a capacity audience. "Aid will never come from the outside."

The fiery Nazi chief cited delivery of the German fleet after the world war, destruction of the merchant marine, surrender of German colonies, and currency inflation as "milestones in the nation's utter humiliation."

He asked German voters to "give the government four years for fulfilling its task."

Hitler did not define a definite program for his government, which includes a sufficient percentage of conservative members to throttle the Nazi chief. The chancellor said the government aimed to preserve the farmers, "the cornerstone of the national existence for thousands of years," and to enable the workers to become again one of the pillars of the nation.

SKEELE ABDUCTORS ARE HELD IN JAIL

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Police closed their investigation today of an abduction plot directed at two prominent women with the indictment of Miss Luella Pearl Hammer, young music teacher, and her friend, W. P. Howard, who, police said, confessed they plotted the kidnappings for money to get married.

The indictment, accused them of kidnapping Mrs. Mary B. Skeele, wife of Dr. Walter F. Skeele, dean of music at the University of Southern California. Mrs. Skeele was released after her abductors failed to collect $10,000 ransom money.

The two were held in jail in default of $100,000 bond.

Although a secret indictment was returned, reportedly naming two other suspects, Detective Inspector David Davidson denied police were seeking accomplices.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(UP)—John D. Ryan, old-time mining engineer, and chairman of the board of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, died today after an illness of about 24 hours.

Death Toll Expected To Be Over 170

At Least 1000 Persons Are Known to Have Been Injured in Blast

NEUNKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 11.—(UP)—The industrial section of Neunkirchen was in ruins today after the explosion of a gas tank that crushed buildings like cardboard, obliterated iron works and a benzol plant, hurled bodies and debris through the air for hundreds of feet, and was felt 150 miles away.

Police, firemen, soldiers and volunteer rescue workers had recovered 6 bodies from the ruins early today. Police estimated that the death toll would reach at least 170, with 1000 injured. Two hundred and eighty survivors were taken to hospitals in serious condition.

Seven persons were killed by the shower of stones, pieces of steel, wood, glass and miscellaneous parts of buildings hurled over the town. The top of the gas tank was found half a mile away on a railroad track. The top was about 150 feet in diameter.

The blast left remaining only the chassis of a street car which was passing the iron works and benzol plant when the explosion happened.

The tank was only two years old, and supplied the entire district with gas.

An adjacent settlement of workmen's houses was flattened, trapping women and children in the ruins of their homes.

A second explosion followed the first blast.

Many residents of the district fled for several miles into the country. Police ordered evacuation of the entire industrial part of the town, but later limited the order to damaged buildings when the danger of further explosions was past.

Five hundred men were known to have been working in various plants near the gas tank. Police estimated that most of today would be required to make an accurate check of the survivors.

JAMES COX TO GET AMBASSADOR POST

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 11.—(UP)—President-elect Roosevelt will appoint the man who headed the ticket when he ran for vice-president in 1920 to the increasingly important embassy at Berlin, it was reported reliably here today.

Reports that James M. Cox would become ambassador to Germany followed a conference here of the 1920 candidate with Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley.

NIGHT RAIDERS FOUND GUILTY: FACING PRISON

Seven Orange County Men Included in Band of Fifteen Convicted

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Seven Orange county men are included in the band of 15 asserted "night raiders" facing jail or prison sentences today after the entire group had been found guilty on charges of raiding the home of David Milder, Long Beach tailor, in an anti-communist demonstration.

The Orange county men convicted were Clarence H. Brooks, Ernest A. Buttram, James Henry Russell, Dale H. Elliott, Clyde Dunn, Walter R. Brooks and Waldo King.

Others convicted were Samuel J. Sampson, Owen J. Starna, A. P. Tyler, Audrey L. Jenks, Homer D. Turner, Charles H. Clark, Earl Amos and John Lindberg.

A jury deliberated 10 hours, before convicting the men of charges they attacked Milder and several men and women in his home, after planting a fiery cross on the front lawn.

Milder denied a communist meeting was being held at his home.

Judge Robert H. Scott ordered the defendants to appear for sentence next Wednesday. Under the indictment, which charged them with conspiracy to commit assault, sentences can range from county jail terms to one to 10 years in prison.

SACRAMENTO POLICE HUNT FOR BANDITS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 11.—(UP)—Sacramento police, pressing their search for the three bandits who robbed the post office here Thursday night, today were hunting for another gunman.

Just as he was preparing to close the downtown office of his finance company last night, Lester E. Amick was held up and robbed of $500 in currency. The bandit fled after warning Amick not to make any noise.

Both federal and state authorities admitted today they were without a single clue to the identity of the three masked men who raided the post office and escaped with a bag of registered mail.

The latest check of the contents of the mail pouch stolen by the trio revealed $233,411 in bonds and coupons; $129 in jewelry and $810 in checks and currency, postal authorities reported.

BURNING PLANE WITH 9 ABOARD LANDED SAFELY

Daring Pilot Saves Lives of Passengers; Liner Destroyed by Flames

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 11.—(UP)—A nerve-wracking race with fire which roaring about the gasoline tanks of a giant air liner in flight, threatened to plunge it and its nine occupants to destruction, was described here today by eye-witnesses.

Only one of them, Mrs. Adela Helwig, of Berkeley, Calif., was burned.

The fire broke out 10 minutes after the Transcontinental & Western air liner left the local port, bound for Los Angeles, shortly before midnight. The plane was several thousand feet up. The flames spouting from the nose motor whipped back against the fuel tanks.

While Lynn Berkenkamp, copilot, pleaded with the seven panic-stricken passengers to keep their seats, the pilot, Eddie Bellandi, wheeled the air liner about.

The flames, emanating from the tanks, threatened an explosion momentarily. Coolly Bellandi gripped the controls and steered the ship back to the port.

The plane had hardly landed and Mrs. Helwig, the last of the passengers, assisted from the cabin when the craft exploded.

Officials credited Bellandi's iron nerve and the craft's all metal construction with averting a major disaster.

Mrs. Helwig was taken to a hospital, suffering from burns about the hands and face.

The plane was from San Francisco. Occupants of the transport ac-

FORECLOSING ON FARMS TO BE HELD OFF

Aid for Southern Cotton Planters Also Provided By Action of Committee

LIMIT ALLOTMENTS Emergency Measures Have Chance of Passing at This Session, Claimed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Emergency relief programs to aid the southern cotton planter and to halt foreclosures on farms and small urban homes were approved by senate committees today over protests of powerful farm interests.

At the same time it was decided to limit the billion dollar domestic allotment plan to wheat and cotton.

The emergency bills approved after weeks of study were conceded a chance of enactment at the short session of congress, while the allotment plan and permanent credit legislation have little chance.

The agriculture committee gave unanimous approval to the plan sponsored by Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, to boost cotton prices through purchase by the government of part of the carryover held by federal agencies.

The allotment bill, sponsored by leading farm organizations was restricted to wheat and cotton by a vote of 12 to two after Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Farm Bureau federation protested to the committee such action would bring no assistance to agriculture as a whole.

A banking subcommittee reported to the full committee a $600,000,000 credit relief bill designed to enforce a two-year suspension of foreclosures on farms and small urban homes through loans to mortgage holders.

The credit bill would apply only to those city homes occupied by their owners and valued at $5000 or less. This class of loans would be limited to five per cent of the unpaid mortgage principle.

SHULER PETITIONS TO SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(UP)—The Trinity Methodist church south, Los Angeles, Calif., today petitioned the supreme court to reconsider its recent decision approving the action of the federal radio commission in rescinding the license of the Rev. Robert P. "Bob" Shuler's radio station.

The rehearing petition was accompanied by a brief of the Civil Liberties union which has announced its intention to intervene in the case as a test of the power of the radio commission to censor broadcasts.

"The union," the brief said "does not pretend to champion Dr. Shuler or his views. It does believe, however, that there is a free speech issue involved."

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Feb. 11.—(To the Editor of The Register). See in all the papers today about making Mr. Roosevelt a President instead of just a man that sends plane up to Congress for the fun of having them vetoed. Now you will hear the wail go up "We are not ready in this free country for a Mussolini." Say, Mussolini could run this country with his eyes shut, in fact that's the way our Congress has been running it. Mussolini, with no money, no natural resources, no nothing, has kept his country going, while us with a surplus of everything under the sun are many with Representatives and liberty. But we can't digest either one of 'em. Yours, WILL ROGERS.

simultaneously by the explosion," a survivor who was injured told the United Press. "In one street, every house was wrecked. Inhabitants of all parts of the city fled their homes, believing at first that a serious earthquake had followed recent minor earth shocks here. "Many women and children were trampled in the stampede. Thousands of windows were shattered, and chimney pots tumbled into the street. I saw doctors performing operations in the streets, and priests administering the last sacrament to the dying."

Two Explosions

Buildings wrecked included the railroad station, part of a hospital, a telephone exchange, and a cinema, which was unoccupied.

The first explosion was felt at Colocoma, Basle and other cities within a range of 150 miles. The second occurred an hour later, when fire spread to a nearby gasoline station. Police reserves were forced to fight back a crowd from the danger zone as members of families of workmen, mostly women and children, rushed to the scene.

While doctors and nurses worked frantically amid great confusion, the clergy did its best to calm the population. Several hysterical women were removed by force.

Fragments of heavy freight cars were found seven miles from Neunkirchen.

The benzol plant was originally owned by the Eisenwerke company, of which Vice Chancellor von Papen was an administrator before he took public office.

Neunkirchen resembled a town that had been raked by heavy artillery fire. Ruins of houses were illuminated by fire.

Police feared the danger of leaking gas, but the district appeared safe from further blasts. Many residents who fled as far as 10 miles to neighboring villages returned later.

The explosion wiped out telephone communication with nearby cities, which delayed arrival of outside aid.

The cause of the explosion was not determined, but it was believed that a minor explosion at the benzol plant started a fire which spread to gas pipes and finally ignited the gas tank. Unconfirmed reports laid the explosion to sabotage. The tank was modern and had been believed explosion-proof.

Man Who Aided In Capture Of Booth Taken to Hospital

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 11.—W. A. McDonald, aged local man has been moved from his home, where he suffered a stroke of the right side, to the veterans' hospital at Sawtelle. His condition is serious. Mr. McDonald is the last surviving member of the armed forces sent in pursuit of John Wilkes Booth, assassin of Lincoln, on that memorable night of April 14, 1865. He was one of the squad of 12 men making the capture in a barn near Bowling Green, Va.

BLANSHARD DECLARES PRIVATE PROFIT SYSTEM IS ROOT OF DIFFICULTIES OF NATION

Pointing to the private profit system as the root of the economic and social difficulties of the nation which has led to the collapse of the capitalist system, Paul Blanshard, executive secretary of the Civic Affairs committee of New York City and nationally known author and lecturer, spoke before a large crowd in the high school auditorium last night.

Although some of the factual statements made by the Technocrats in past have not been accurate, the fundamental facts set out by the group are accurate, the speaker declared. He pointed out that many statements made by the Technocrats have been misrepresented.

"Even Communism has a right to free speech in America," he said. "I am not a Communist. My associate, Norman Thomas, has been represented by Communists as a man who has sold out to the capitalist class. We believe in a change of social and economic conditions. Many persons misrepresent and misinterpret any suggestion of change."

Following an outline of the history of the Technocrats the speaker outlined the main theories made public by the group, which are as follows:

1. The machine has displaced men so fast that capitalism faces collapse.

2. If Technocrats were placed in charge, the economic system could be operated so every person could be relatively rich by working only four hours a day, four days a week, and would have an income of $20,000 a year.

3. The debt burden of the United States is so great that it cannot and will never be paid.

4. The price system must go and in its place must come a form of exchange based on energy units.

Compares Theories

Comparing Socialism with Technocracy, the speaker pointed out that Technocracy is not a complete system of thought because no program has been suggested. On the other hand, he said, Socialism offers a complete economic and social program, based on an analysis of capitalism.

"Socialists," he asserted, "believe in the facts of history which show a story of the common workers struggling for decades to obtain a fair division of wealth. Even wars are economic struggles."

"Capitalism, Socialists say, is fundamentally wrong because it is controlled by one class. Class ownership of the machines is wrong. Socialism is a social order in which great industries are collectively owned and manned jointly for the common good."

"Socialism and Technocracy have at least something in common; they are both lied about. Socialism does not want to get an equal amount of money whether they work or not. Socialism is the direct opposite of anarchy. Socialists believe in more and better government."

Weakest Point

"The weakest point in the Technocrats' theories is the abolishment of the price system. The trouble is that we give money to people that don't earn it. The dollar is not stable. This is another trouble. If those two evils could be corrected conditions would be greatly improved. The way we distribute money is wrong and the fluctuation of the dollar is wrong. Money fluctuates because it is based on gold, a fluctuating medium."

"Several remedies have been suggested, one of which is the 'stable market dollar' which has been suggested to be based on representative values of various commodities. Another suggestion is to have a system of currency, giving one dollar for every hour's work. Still another idea is managed currency, which, it is claimed, would be stable and adjusted on a world-wide plan. I do not see why Technocrats have based the exchange on energy."

"Technocracy says the debt burden of the nation is too great and will never be paid. I think their estimate that the national indebtedness is $218,000,000,000 is incorrect. The truth is that it is $165,000,000,000. I think they are right about the fact that it will never be paid. We are operating in an industrial system where 75 cents out of every dollar goes to pay off the debt burden. We have mortgaged the future of our generations."

The law will allow one man to discharge another when he has no means of earning a livelihood in another manner and yet it says contracts are valid which run into another generation. The large part of our debt burden came from manipulation.

"I am glad the Technocrats had the courage to say the debts would never be paid. Statements that they would be paid have been made to bolster up railroad bonds and others which will never be paid off and for banks which should have closed long ago. Reconstruction Finance Corporation money, our further curtailment of American forces at sea.

Pratt's announcement, however, said the Atlantic fleet was being retained in the Pacific in "the interests of economy." Secretary of State Stimson said the decision had not been discussed with him. It is the third time that return of the Atlantic fleet to its usual base has been postponed.

Secretary Adams said the Bratton amendment adopted by the senate requiring all departments to save 5 per cent of their appropriations next fiscal year would force the navy to:

Close certain east coast navy yards; slow down work on new ships "at great loss of time and increase of costs"; discharge about 4500 civilian employees; restrict all naval reserve activities, and cease all further regular navy enlistments, thus cutting about 9000 men from the active personnel.

Loss of these men, Adams said, would result in the laying-off of the following vessels:

Three battleships out of a total of 15; two aircraft carriers; four heavy cruisers; two light cruisers; 13 destroyers; six submarines; two light mine layers, and probably the dirigible Macon, now nearing completion at Akron, Ohio.

Already, the secretary said, the navy has 49 ships out of active commission, and the proposed additions would lay up a total of 82.

Such action, he said, would place the United States fleet in a position where its total number of fully manned vessels would be 66 per cent of the number of British and 56 per cent of the number of Japanese warships in full commission.

Adams made known his views in letters to Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, and Chairman Byrnes of the house appropriations committee.

WELCOME MINISTER TO FIELD IN S. A.

Joined by a delegation from Whittier, the United Presbyterian church of Santa Ana honored its new pastor, the Rev. Albert E. Kelly and his family, in a reception at the church last night.

The Rev. Mr. Kelly replaced the Rev. W. H. McMeek, who has been minister of the Montebello Park church for the past year. He comes directly from Whittier, where he served as pastor four years following his work as education extension director of the Los Angeles Bible Institute.

Speaking on behalf of the ministers of Santa Ana, the Rev. E. W. Matz of the Evangelical church and president of the Ministerial association, joined with the Presbyterians in extending greetings to the new pastor.

TILTON FUNERAL TO BE HELD MONDAY

Mrs. Belle Tilton, 47, a resident of Santa Ana for the past 10 years, died at her home, 1410 Washington avenue, yesterday, following an illness of three months' duration.

She is survived by her husband, Ralph Tilton, an employee of the Grand Central garage, two sons, Leonard Connors and Orville Tilton; two daughters, Mrs. Paul Ulrich and Miss V'Oral Tilton, and one granddaughter, Betty May Ulrich, all of Santa Ana.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. in the chapel of the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street.

Breakfast Platter Menus to Be Given

Members of the cooking class for business women which meets at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Southern Counties Gas company auditorium on West Second street, will be given instruction on the following menu, suggested for a Sunday morning breakfast platter:

Eggs in cases, broiled sausages, crusted apples. Other recipes will be demonstrated for jellied tea dessert salad, persimmon pudding, pork chops topped with corn and apple pie.

SPORTS BULLETINS

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Arrangements for the first Open championship in the history of tennis was made in today's meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

This tournament which would bring in many of the greatest players in the world, amateur and professional, will be played at the Germantown Cricket club provided a suitable date can be arranged.

It was indicated that every effort would be made to arrange such a tournament this year so that Bill Tilden, now a pro, could be induced to play along, possibly, with Henri Cochet of France, Ellsworth Vines, U. S. National champion, and other stars, both amateur and professional.

NIGHT SESSION OF CRIMINAL COURT IS HELD

The jury hearing evidence in Judge H. G. Ames court against Ray LaMarr, Leo DeSoto and Frank Medina, accused of two counts of assault and one of highway robbery, retired at 11 o'clock this morning with eight possible verdicts from which to make their decision in each case.

Each member of the jury is accused of assault with a deadly weapon; assault with a deadly weapon likely to produce great bodily injury and robbery. The jury is faced with the task of deciding: First, whether or not each defendant is guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, or simple assault, or not guilty of assault in any form; second whether each member of the jury is guilty of first degree robbery, second degree robbery or not guilty.

The case was in court Wednesday, Thursday and yesterday. In an effort to complete the case this week the court remained in session last night until almost 9 o'clock and convened again this morning.

The three defendants are accused of having held up Henry Bill Mays and taken from him $19 cash, and a watch valued at $25. During the holdup the trio is accused of having beaten Mays with an automobile crank.

GIVES FACTS ABOUT ALCOHOL TO STUDENTS

Speaking at assemblies of students at Polytechnic High school and Frances Willard Junior High school yesterday, C. H. Fowler, of Huntington Park, told the "Truth About Alcohol," using a series of stereopticon slides to illustrate his message.

He prefaced his illustrated lecture by saying that he was not concerned about prohibition and the saloon but what alcohol does to the human body.

His pictures were of famous athletes and people well known in world affairs. Each picture contained a message from the persons whose picture appeared on the slide, relative to the effect of alcohol on the system.

Dr. George K. Webster was quoted as saying that alcohol is not a stimulant, tonic or blood builder but is harmful and an efficiency destroyer. Ty Cobb and Knute Rockne were quoted as saying that alcohol and athletic do not mix. "Hurry Up" Yost, Howard Jones and Alonzo Stagg were other nationally known coaches who have declared that alcohol makes students unfit for athletics.

Other well known world figures whose pictures were used in the lecture as declaring alcohol harmful were Charles Lindbergh, Helen Wills, the late Theodore Roosevelt, the late Calvin Coolidge, General John Pershing and Joy E. Morgan, editor of the National Educational Association journal.

Morgan was quoted as saying that liquor is outlawed and that next to the church and school the Eighteenth amendment has done more for the welfare of childhood and youth than any other advance in history.

Referring to automobile accidents Fowler declared that even a moderate drinker is a menace to life when operating an automobile after having indulged.

Pictures also showed the harmful effects of alcohol on organs of the human body.

LITTLE, WHITE PLAY FOR COLLEGE CROWN

DEL MONTE, eb. 11.—(UP)—Lawson Little of Stanford and Neil White of University of Southern California met today in the 36-hole finals of the Pacific Coast intercollegiate golf tournament.

Little entered the finals by defeating "Bud" Eichelberger, Stanford, one-up, in an evenly fought semi-finals match yesterday.

White had little trouble eliminating "Bud" Cantwell, U. S. C. 6 and 5.

Old Doctor Escapes Serious Gall Bladder Operation

An old German physician, Dr. H. E. Hildebrand, many years ago was severely suffering from what appeared to be a Gall Stone Trouble. He was frequently subject to colic attacks, gas pains, indigestion, pain in sides, back and around the liver. Rather than submit to an operation, he decided to treat his own case. So successful was he in his efforts, he prescribed the same treatment to other sufferers. The amazing results they reported is convincing evidence of the merit of this preparation. Through the Dr. Hildebrand's Laboratories, 155 N. Union Avenue, Suite 541, Chicago, Ill., sufferers from Gall Stone, Gall Bladder and allied Liver and Stomach ailments everywhere may obtain a test of this splendid treatment free by writing to the above address at once.—Adv.

DRAMATIC MOMENT IN HISTORY WHEN LINCOLN SHOT RECALLED BY AGED ANAHEIM RESIDENT

An eyewitness to the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday anniversary is to be observed tomorrow, Mrs. Virginia E. Lucas of Anaheim recalled for her great-grandchildren, upon the occasion of her ninety-first birthday, celebrated this week, the story of that dramatic moment when a pistol shot suddenly broke the quiet of Ford theater as the great emancipator became the victim of an assassin's bullet.

On that eventful night she was seated in an orchestra chair, beside her young husband, their seats being only a few feet forward, and below, the box of the President of the United States that was colorfully draped with flags.

"It was the beginning of the second act of 'My American Cousin,' the President and Mrs. Lincoln having just seated themselves, and we were watching them when there was a stir of the curtains, a man stepped in and a shot resounded through the hall," she said, recalling the scene. "My husband clutched me by the arm and said, 'By George, they have shot the president!' His head fell forward and Mrs. Lincoln screamed. Then all was confusion, men and women jumping to their feet while John Wilkes Booth was even then in the act of leaping from the President's box to the stage, catching his spurs in the draped flags, stumbling and then running wildly across the stage to the rear door, where a horse awaited him."

"Instantly we were told to keep our seats as no one would be allowed to leave and the great doors were locked upon us. Soon a guard of six men entered and bore the President across the street, where he died the next morning without regaining consciousness."

In speaking of the rest of that historical night, Mrs. Lucas remembered how they shortly left the theater and wandered in the streets where large crowds of people had quickly gathered to talk hysterically of the shooting. Soon, worn out with the excitement, they went home, only to find that they could not rest so again returned to the streets.

"Whenever two or more people stopped to talk officers quickly appeared and dispersed the groups," she said. Later she and her husband saw the president lying in state and attended his funeral. Many times they had seen the familiar figure of the president walking down the street, riding in his carriage or on horseback and numerous times they had attended receptions in the White House.

Adding a finishing touch to her tale she said, "I remember that I was wearing, that night, a black silk party frock, made over a hooped skirt. In those days I wore my straight, black hair parted in the center, pulled over the ears and wound in a coil low on my neck."

Twice married and having had two children, the spectator of this dramatic bit of history now lives at 217 East Cypress street with her granddaughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Rogers.

ANAHEIM MAN IS HELD ON CHECK CHARGE

William "Billy" Knott, 35, well known Anaheim butcher and night baseball enthusiast, was arrested by sheriff's officers yesterday afternoon on a warrant from Riverside county charging him with issuing a fictitious check.

Knott was given a suspended jail sentence here in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court several weeks ago, on a "driving drunk" charge and as a result of his arrest for Riverside county officers, Morrison ordered him held here for another hearing before being turned over to Riverside officers.

Details of the case against him in Riverside are not known here, sheriff's officers said.

Knott was arrested on the driving charge by a state traffic officer and was sentenced to 90 days in jail which was suspended on condition he pay a fine of $500 at a rate of $25 per month. He has started payment of the fine, Justice Morrison said.

A WORD OF COMFORT

It is difficult to retain what you learn casually; indeed you easily lose what you have inadvertently acquired. An indelible mark is made by a great catastrophe; the knowledge you attain by supreme effort stays with you.

What you are now learning regarding God's enduring care for you and regarding the kindness of other people could never have been yours without the three hours through which you are now passing.

Never again will you doubt either God's love or the innate sincerity of man.

L. A. MAN GETS WRIT AGAINST LOCAL JURIST

Superior Judge James L. Allen has been cited before the fourth district court of appeals next Tuesday for argument on petition for a writ of mandate that grew out of Judge Allen's refusal to permit the suit of Yusef Takekata for annulment of his marriage to Fumi Takekata to go to trial.

Judge Allen will be represented at the hearing in Fresno by Attorney Otto Jacobs.

Several months ago Takekata, Japanese business man of Los Angeles, filed suit in the Orange county court for annulment of his marriage to Fumi Takekata of Wintersburg on his allegation that his wife refused to consummate the marriage. Before the case was called for trial the court ordered Takekata to pay his wife $30 monthly for her support and court costs.

The case was called for trial November 1, last, before Judge Allen, with W. R. Smith, Los Angeles attorney, representing Takekata and Otto Jacobs appearing for the wife. Judge Allen refused to permit the case to go to trial when the court was informed that the alimony payments and court costs had not been met by Takekata.

Takekata appealed to the fourth district court of appeals in Fresno for a writ of mandate compelling Judge Allen to proceed with the case, and next Tuesday was the date set for argument on the petition.

NEW COAST BUILT WILLYS DISPLAYED AT MOTOR SALES

The new 1933 Pacific Coast-built Willys models, the cars which have proved themselves such outstanding successes at the auto shows and at the dealers' show rooms wherever they have been exhibited to date are now on display at the headquarters of Motor Sales, local Willys distributors.

This car is being offered at the lowest price in Willys-Overland history, declared Mr. Anderson. "It has a speed of more than 70 miles an hour, has patented 'Floating Power,' is fully streamlined from bumper to bumper and will give 25 to 30 miles per gallon of gasoline," he continued.

"This new creation with an overall length of 156 inches and designed as the Willys 77 has been in the process of development for over a year. It is considered by John N. Willys as his outstanding engineering and style accomplishment.

"The combination of artistic beauty and sweeping streamlining has been achieved partly by the use of cowled fenders, one stamping forming the fender, the fender skirt, hood ledge and lamp hood so that the hood and gracefully slanting radiator grille might be so shaped as to greatly minimize wind resistance. The fender unit itself having no back washes or eddies in its conformation, permits air to flow smoothly over and away from the body sides.

"The external beauty of these new cars is matched by interior luxury and roominess so that it brings an advanced idea of comfort and convenience to the lowest priced field. Both front and rear seats are wide and deeply cushioned, with backs tilted at the proper angle for maximum comfort. Individual seats are used in the front compartment of the sedan and both are adjustable to suit individual needs. Roominess is another feature of the Willys 77, this applying to head, leg and elbow room.

Trade Homes In Broadway Park

Arrested After Throwing Brick Through Window

A warrant for the arrest of George D. O'Grady, Santa Ana, man, was issued this morning, shortly after he was alleged to have tossed a brick through the home of his estranged wife, Cleo May O'Brien, of 788 Garfield street.

No one was hurt, but the brick which was said to have been quite a brick "weighing six pounds" crashed through a glass window pane. The complaint in the case, on file in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, charges O'Grady with assault with intent to do "great bodily harm."

POLICE BEGIN SEARCH FOR 3 MISSING GIRLS

Police throughout Southern California were today searching for three Garden Grove high school girls who disappeared from school yesterday.

The girls are believed to be trying to make their way to a ranch near Phoenix, Ariz., where a girl friend lives. All went to become "cow girls," the sheriff's office reported and decided to "ditch" school for the "wide open places."

Radio stations are broadcasting their disappearance and police throughout the Southland have been notified through the local sheriff's office.

The girls are Lola Presson, 15, daughter of Virgil Presson, driver of the Garden Grove school bus; Ruth Scroggins, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Scroggins, of Lampton and Ninth streets in Garden Grove and Betty Epps, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Epps of Brookhurst near Katella roads.

TRIAL OF GUN CLUBS IS SET FOR MARCH 22

Ten gun clubs accused of violating a county ordinance prohibiting waste of water from pumping wells pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial, at the arraignment held before Justice of the Peace Chris Pann at Huntington Beach this morning. The trial was set for March 22 at 10 a. m.

The clubs accused of wasting water are the California, West Shore, Blue Wing, Lomita, Bluebill, La Patos, Casadova, Saanias, Sunset Fish and Frog club and the West Shore.

Attorney L. A. West, Santa Ana, is appearing for the defendants, while W. F. Menton, assistant district attorney, is prosecuting the case.

SAFE CRACKING TRIO ENTERS GUILTY PLEA

Yesterday afternoon Clyde Pierce, his brother Harold Pierce and Charles D. Lawton were arraigned before Superior Judge James L. Allen and entered pleas of guilty to charges of robbing the safe of the E. K. Wood Lumber company, of Huntington Beach. The trio asked for probation and will appear February 24 for hearing on their petition. The trio was surprised while attempting to open the lumber company safe.

Santos Marchan and Harry D. Humphrey, both accused of failure to provide for their children entered pleas and waived jury trials. Marchan will have his hearing February 25 and Humphrey will appear February 16.

Clifford Oakland pleaded guilty to driving an automobile without the owner's consent and will appear February 17 for hearing on his application for probation.

TEACHER SALARY SUSPENSION AT GARDEN GROVE FOLLOWS HEAVY TAX DELINQUENCIES

Tax delinquencies in the district amounting to approximately 20 per cent, and a court order requiring payment of an $8685.75 damage judgment, have made it necessary for the Garden Grove high school district to temporarily suspend payment of teachers' and other employees' salaries. This fact was verified today in interviews with County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson and County Auditor William Lambert.

Adkinson said that the teachers did not receive their pay due on February 1. The condition of high school funds was laid before the teachers, he said, and they agreed to wait for their salaries until the present difficulty has been overcome.

The warrants will be given the teachers, Adkinson said, and they will be asked to hold them without registration except in cases of extreme necessity. He said that some money probably would be available for the teachers in July. The district, it was pointed out, has used up its anticipated state income and with tax delinquencies in the district increasing, it was considered dangerous to permit the school to make further expenditures based on anticipated income.

State funds amounting to $6538.35 will be turned over to the district this month and will apply on the present deficiency. An additional $4914 from the county fund will be paid the district in May. Teachers will be paid from surplus funds created through delinquent tax payments and other anticipated income.

The assessed valuation of the Garden Grove high school district, according to the auditor, is $4,067,000. The tax delinquency in the district has been estimated at approximately 20 per cent, or a shortage of approximately $5000 in anticipated income, for the school district. In August the superior court ordered payment of $8685.75 to Joseph P. Henry Jr. for injuries to his hand. Young Henry had several fingers cut off while operating a circular saw in the school shop. The district was sued and a judgment awarded on testimony that the saw was without proper guards at the time of the accident.

Adkinson said that teachers' salaries will be paid out of funds received from delinquent taxes and surpluses after current contracts have been paid. The delinquent salaries, he said, will be considered preferred claims.

JOHN I. DECKER, NATIVE SON, CALLED TODAY

John Irwin Decker, 37, Santa Ana merchant who wrote a native son of Santa Ana, died at his home, 415 South Broadway, this morning following a prolonged illness.

Decker, well known in Santa Ana, was the proprietor of the Candyland store and cafe at 419 North Broadway street. He had been in the candy manufacturing business and retail business all his life.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mildred V. Decker; two daughters, Virginia and Maxine Decker; his father, Frank J. Decker; his mother, Mrs. Emma Webster; and three sisters, Mrs. Audra Cantieri of Oakland, Bernice and Mildred Decker of Santa Ana.

Funeral services will be held in the chapel of the Winbiger Funeral home, 609 North Main street, Monday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, minister of the First Christian church, officiating.

Decker was a member of Santa Ana Masonic lodge No. 241, which order will give their burial service at the chapel, after which cremation will take place.

Assemblyman To Address Masons

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 11.—Assemblyman James Utt will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Garden Grove lodge No. 356, F. & A. M., in the Masonic hall Monday evening.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. Elected officers will preside. A large attendance is anticipated.

LEGION SEEKS EXTRA BUSES ON RAINY DAYS

Following complaints that illness among school children is in a measure due to the fact many are forced to walk long distances in the rain from buses, resulted in appointment of a committee at the county council of the American Legion at La Habra last night.

The statement was made that school buses travel only on the main roads. The committee will seek to have an extra schedule on rainy days in order that buses may take pupils to their homes. Garden Grove post, under a rule established during the present membership contest, was given custody of "Shorty," a white pig, which has been in custody of Fullerton post for the past month. The post that is awarded the pig on April 1 will be obliged to serve it at a dinner for post commanders and membership chairman.

A resolution asking endorsement of Wilbur Getty, Santa Ana, as department commander, was tabled.

TWO BANDITS GET $17 FROM S. A. GROCER

Two bandits, one of whom is believed to have been the lone bandit who has held up several service stations here recently, last night robbed W. D. Hart, grocery man, in his store at 627 East Pine street, taking $17 in cash.

The holdup was staged at a time when the store was void of customers.

The men casually walked into the place and when Hart stepped up to wait on them, both said: "Stick 'em up," one man producing a blue steel revolver. Hart quickly complied and as he was being held by one bandit, the other walked behind the counter and robbed the till of all the cash, leaving several checks.

The men were in the store only a couple of minutes, Hart said. Other than the command "Hands up," no other word was spoken by the robbers, Hart declared.

MAN CRUSHED ART WORK FOR BETWEEN TRUCK MUSEUM COURT AND BUILDING ARRIVES TODAY

Harvey DeWolfe, 1107 West Chestnut, is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where he was taken yesterday, after he had been injured in a peculiar accident at his ranch at Costa Mesa. DeWolfe was working near a small blacksmith shop on the ranch when a truck which had been left in gear nearby, started toward him.

Jumping on the running board and taking the steering wheel, DeWolfe endeavored to guide the vehicle away from the building, but was unsuccessful in his attempt to clear the structure and he was caught between the truck and the building, his body being badly crushed. His narrow escape from death was almost miraculous, according to men working on the place who extricated him.

All of the keys and small articles carried in his pockets were crushed into tiny pieces. Mr. DeWolfe's physicians believe that none of his bones were broken, with the exception of the pelvic bone which is thought to be cracked. Several large timbers in the blacksmith shop were broken by the pressure exerted by the truck.

ARREST DRIVER AFTER DOUBLE AUTO ACCIDENT

Two persons were injured and a third was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, as the result of a double accident at Ocean avenue and Stanton road at 8 o'clock last night.

A car driven by John Wray, 25, of the Palms hotel, Long Beach, was crowded off the road by another car which cut in on his machine. The car fell into an eight-foot ditch. Ten minutes later, while a tow car from Garden Grove was attempting to extricate the car, a machine driven by George A. Clark, 49, garage owner, of 44 Elm street, Long Beach, crashed into the tow car.

Wray received cuts and bruises. E. H. Caldwell, 30, garage man of Garden Grove, who was in the tow car at the time was injured. D. D. Adams, member of the California highway patrol arrested Clark at the scene of the accident and brought him to the county jail. At 2:30 a. m., today he was released on bail to appear here Tuesday.

Neither of the men injured were believed to have been badly hurt.

PAY COMPLIMENT TO LEGIONNAIRE

Wilbur Getty, former commander of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion, was endorsed by the post as a candidate for department commander, election to be held this summer, at the meeting of the post Thursday.

The candidacy of the Santa Ana Legion leader last night was tabled at the meeting of the county council of the Legion at La Habra.

- Lower operating cost
- Lower upkeep

Drive the new Willys 77, and note the big savings in your motoring budget. John N. Willys realized that bulky, cumbersome cars, with their costly maintenance, are too much for today's reduced pocketbooks. So, utilizing every resource of modern automotive science, Willys engineers have eliminated 500 pounds of excess car weight. The perfect balance of the new Willys 77—in weight, length, width, height, with low gravity center—results in greater safety, finer performance, greater savings on gas and tires. Full streamlining reduces wind resistance and effects still further savings. You get 28 to 30 miles per gallon. Four passengers can ride for less than a cent a mile for gas and oil.

Alice Marble, Tennis Phenom, Here For Exhibition

GIRL RATED AS NEXT CHAMPION

PLAYS SUNDAY

Marvelous Alice Marble of San Francisco, considered by many well-informed authorities as the most promising young tennis player in the world, will appear in a series of exhibitions on the Frances Willard courts here tomorrow.

Tying in with semi-final and final rounds of the Orange county men's doubles championships, Miss Marble's matches will begin at 10 a. m. They are sponsored by the Santa Ana Tennis club, and will be open to the public. Eleanor Tennant, La Jolla club professional and one-time National ranking star, will bring Miss Marble here.

Miss Marble, 18, is Pacific Coast singles champion and No. 7 nationally. Experts say she is equipped with youth, speed, strength and natural ability, and her strokes are said to be faultless.

Billy Johnston, onetime National champion, recently described her as follows: "Right now, I would say she is a better prospect than Helen Wills Moody was at her age. With experience and hard work she should be ripe to take Helen's place when the latter elects to step down."

Johnston believes Miss Marble plays a more natural game than Mrs. Moody.

Josephine Cruikshank, Santa Ana's court queen, No. 5, in U. S. ratings in 1932, will appear in at least one match against Miss Marble. Arrangements for the matches have not been arranged definitely but it is probable Miss Marble will first oppose Miss Cruikshank or Lewis Wetherell, young local high school player, in singles, and then team up in a mixed doubles.

Men's doubles matches are scheduled at 9:30 and 2. The morning match will pair Wetherell and Arno Finner against Johnny Cross and Randolph Bell. The surviving tandem will draw Toby White and Kenneth Ranney in the afternoon finals.

CALL IT 'NEE'

HIS TRACKMEN IN TRIALS FOR POMONA MEET

Marked improvement in several track events has been shown at Santa Ana high school yesterday when 15 athletes qualified for a practice meet with Pomona college freshmen at Claremont, Feb. 24.

Dissatisfied with marks in some events, Coach "Chuck" Webb selected only those men who he feels stand in fair chance at Pomona, but admitted that showings within the next few days may add several names to his list, which follows: Captain Floyd Montgomery, Walt Hendrie, Bruce Swishheim, Arthur Stranks, Major Anderson, Charles Ortiz, Bob Reif, Weston Sprague, Ernie Ackers, J. R. Bennett, Walt Kring, Don Boyle, Russell Ramsdell, Frank May and Lee Hamilton.

Three pole vaulters—Bruce Harms, Ray Walkingshaw and Clair Preininger—will make the trip provided they do 11 feet in trials next week. Among other candidates who must show improvement are Rod Dresser, Jay Clark, Jack Preston, Howard Heber and Rollin Jensen.

Sophomore Bob Reif, just up from Frances Willard junior high school, leaped 5 feet, 8 inches at one time during the high jump trials, and was consistent at 5:6 and 5:7 during the workout.

Swishheim, Ramsdell, Montgomery and Anderson ran a fast 440-yard relay, clocked in 47 seconds flat. With another week's drill, this team should do well at the Orange Show Relays at San Bernardino a week from today.

If Captain Montgomery continues his spectacular progress in the broad jump, the Saints will be represented by at least one good pitman this season. He leaped an even 21 feet in drill Thursday, and came through with a mark of 20:6 yesterday.

Summary:

880-yard run—Won by Ortiz; Bennett, second; Heber, third. Time, 2:9 min.

FANS HOWL AS CARNERA STOPS SCHAAF IN 3TH

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight, knocked out last night by Primo Carnera, must remain in Polyclinic hospital here for several days, Dr. J. A. Jenney said today.

Schaaf is suffering from a severe brain concussion as a result of the knockout, the doctor said, adding that "we consider all brain concussions dangerous." He said he considered Schaaf to be out of danger.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(INS)—They've seen fighters do the plunge for distance in faultless form while they stood on chairs to gibber hoarsely, the eye wild and the tongue a little thickened by the emotion of a great drama. But last night they saw a man knocked right, rigid and stiffer than a tin roof, and they jeered. They mocked and gaped at him; they called him scurrious names.

"Fake, fake," they shouted, as attendants and policemen carried the senseless form of Ernie Schaaf to his dressing room, a knockout victim of Primo Carnera in 51 seconds of the thirteenth round. The finishing punch was nothing—a straight left, with a slight hook at the finish. It was the effect that was important.

Schaaf in Hospital

At least, it must have seemed pretty important to Ernie Schaaf when he failed to fully recover consciousness in the Polyclinic hospital six hours later. He had been taken there as an emergency measure when an injection of adrenalin by Dr. William Walker, the official physician, had failed to restore him. He was still there this morning, and, according to the chief resident physician, Dr. J. A. Jenney, he will remain for some days.

The power of suggestion is a tremendous and astounding thing. For days this prize fight to determine the challenger for Jack Sharkey's heavyweight title was described as one of those things the boys call, with a knowing leer, a "business" prize fight. Schaaf, they said, was bound to lose because he couldn't afford to win, being Sharkey's own fighter.

So when he suddenly crumbled under a seemingly innocuous left jab in the thirteenth round, the indignation was instantaneous and terrible to behold. They said the punch couldn't hurt him. But I'm inclined to feel that contention is not very impressive in comparison with the fact that the punch did hurt and still is hurting him enough for a report to get about the hospital that he is suffering from a brain hemorrhage and that his mother has been sent for.

Finishing Punch Unimpressive

I think it was about this time that even newspapermen at the ringside first began to accept what

CARDS, WELL EQUIPPED WITH PITCHERS, MAY TRADE VANCE

BY LES CONKLIN
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(INS)—Brooklyn traded "Dazzy" Vance to St. Louis Wednesday night, and the Hot Stove League was busy today shipping him back to the New York Giants. Two circumstances indicated the stay of the former speed-ball king with the Cardinals would be no longer than that of "Back" Wilson, Owen Carroll and other chattels.

One was that St. Louis, always equipped with ten good pitchers, would readily exchange him for a bundle of what it takes. The other is that St. Louis officials have a marked aversion to supporting old dazzy in the style to which he has been accustomed in Brooklyn, where he has been averaging around $20,000 a year for eight seasons.

The Giants, Secretary Jim Tierney admitted today, are ready to buy Vance if the price is not too high. They have wanted him for some time. He would be a tremendous drawing card in the games between New York and Brooklyn, bitter rivals. St. Louis needs a second-string catcher and the Cardinals could clinch the trade by throwing in Frank Healy.

The Cardinals also need a good infielder and may trade Vance to another club to get one. Such a player might be Durocher of Cincinnati or Elley of Grosskloss of the Pirates. Both the Pirates and Reds could use Vance better than St. Louis.

Meanwhile, the Dazzler, in Florida, did a lot of fishing but little talking. He is a holdout of proven ability and the fur is sure to fly when the Cardinals start talking pin money to him.

NEWPORT HARBOR'S WEIGHT TEAMS WIN

MRS. CHENEY BEATS VIRGINIA VAN WIE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Playing coolly in the face of a spectacular finish staged by her opponent, Mrs. Leona Cheney of San Gabriel defeated Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, 3 and 2, to capture the annual Los Angeles midwinter invitational tournament yesterday.

Although five up at the end of the first 18 holes, the state champion was threatened in the final round by Miss Van Wie, defeating titlist in the local match play event. The Chicago girl picked up two holes before reaching the 16th green. Undisturbed, she holed a 46-foot putt. Undisturbed, Mrs. Cheney sank a six-foot putt to halve the hole and win.

In the first round, Miss Van Wie's poor putting put her far behind the victor.

TURN AWAY 10,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(UP)—Standing room was sold and 10,000 late comers were turned away at the Carnera-Schaaf fight at Madison Square Garden last night. An hour after the finish, knots of fans were discussing the dramatic climax.

the eyes had seen, namely, a man who was supposed to be knocked out by pre-arrangement absolutely and definitely knocked out by a punch that seemed to lack authority. It came suddenly and without drama.

Carnera, outweighing the other by almost 60 pounds and winning almost every minute of almost every round, snapped a straight left to Schaaf's jaw. There was a sharp crack as the punch landed and the blow, all told, was pretty unimpressive.

It had enough on it at that, to push Schaaf's mouthpiece halfway down his throat. Moreover, the effect was astounding.

Schaaf staggered back toward the ropes and, for a split-second, stood tottering and uncertain. Then suddenly he collapsed to a sitting position, his feet straight out in front of him and his right arm clutching the lower ropes. In some way the same fashion a certain Mr. Tunney once sat and meditated upon the trivia and trivia of existence. For a few seconds, too, it seemed that Schaaf would manage to arise, even as Mr. Tunney succeeded in doing—ultimately.

Head, Body Slump

For two seconds, that is, Schaaf seemed hurt but to the corner, then things began to happen to him. His eyes glazed, his head began to drop strangely. Then, slowly, at six the eyes crossed. At seven his head and body began slumping toward his outstretched legs. At ten, he was doubled up like a dish cloth.

So they came out and got him and dragged him to the corner, thence to the dressing room, and finally the hospital. There one of the doctors said something about the "cumulative effect" of the blows, which seemed fair enough. He accumulated many in the course of the evening, never having a white man's chance after the open-

SANTA ANA NINE ON CALIFORNIA TRIMMS ROAD NEXT 2 WEEKS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—(UP)—The University of California at Los Angeles basketball squad continued its losing ways last night when it bowed to the University of California, 37 to 28.

A second game will be played tonight.

The Bears, paced by Hal Elfert, stepped off to an early lead and were never headed although intermittently threatened by their cousins. When the half ended, California was out in front, 31 to 15.

Don Piper, U. C. L. A. sharp-shooter, broke into action in the final half and nudged the score to within five points of the Bears but the threat was soon repelled. Piper maintained his position as leading conference scorer by hanging up 15 points.

HANCOCK OIL FEARS LAGUNA'S INVASION

Hancock Oil's station atop the Orange County Winter league ball standings will be in jeopardy tomorrow when Laguna Beach, undoubtedly one of the best clubs in the confederacy, invades Airways park at 2:15.

Laguna Beach beat the Santa Anas the last time it came here, and with a battery like Dunn and Johnson hopes to repeat this time. Gordon Mallett and Cliff Miller are scheduled to share the pitching task for Hancock Oil, with Miller and "Bono" Koral receiving.

Santa Anita, the other first place team, goes to Newport Harbor. Irvine travels to Huntington Beach. Hancock Oil battling averages:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Hancock Oil	3	0	1.000
Santa Anita	3	0	1.000
Huntington Beach	2	1	.667
Irvine	1	2	.333
Laguna Beach	0	3	.000
Newport Harbor	0	3	.000

POLICE KEEP PEACE AFTER BRONCOS WIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—(UP)—None of the "fireworks" that had been expected materialized after Santa Clara defeated St. Mary's, 34-30, here last night.

The victory gave the Broncos a two to one edge in their three games with their Moraga rivals.

Just as the contest ended a squad of San Francisco's huskiest policemen marched on the court—offering menacing looks to any fans who paused on their way to the exits. Students of the two colleges gazed at the large delegation of blue coats and meekly abandoned ideas of riotousness.

Orange	4	2	.667
Brea-Olinda	3	3	.500
Tustin	4	2	.667
Huntington Beach	3	3	.500
Anaheim	1	5	.167
Garden Grove	1	5	.167
Newport Harbor	0	6	.000

Newport Harbor at Orange, San Juan Capistrano at Tustin; Garden Grove at Anaheim; Huntington Beach at Brea-Olinda.

A triple tie for the Orange league's 1933 basketball championship appeared as an almost unavoidable certainty today, less than a week from the completion of all regularly scheduled games.

With six of their seven contests behind them, Orange, San Juan Capistrano and Brea-Olinda were at the top of the standings with identical percentage. All indications are that they will be the same way after next Friday night when Orange plays Newport Harbor, Capistrano meets Tustin, and Brea-Olinda opposes Huntington Beach.

San Juan Capistrano last night won from Anaheim, 32-17. Brea-Olinda overhauled Garden Grove, 43-15. Orange beat Huntington Beach Thursday, 25-16.

Anaheim was expected to give the Missionaries a close game on the small Anaheim floor, and did for a quarter, but before the end of the half the Capistrano quintet was rolling as well as ever, accumulating a 16-11 lead to which it added rapidly in the last half. George Avila, forward, scored 19 points, the most made individually on the Anaheim court this year.

Brea-Olinda outlasted Garden Grove all the way, holding a 14-5 margin by the end of the first quarter. Thompson hooped 17 points.

Tustin moved into fourth place behind the deadlocked triumvirate with a 26-18 victory over Newport Harbor. The Tars played good basketball in the first half and were still in front at the intermission, 15-13, but wilted under Tustin's superior attack in the second half. Dean Francis did most of the Tustin point-making. He accounted for 15 of the Tiller's points.

The lineups:

San Juan Capistrano	(17) Anaheim
LeGates (2)..... (6) Maxson
S. Avila (19)..... (3) Hunziker
Magee (7)..... (5) Kennedy

Newport Harbor	8	7	2	1	18

ANAHEIM CINCHES LOOP'S

Anaheim clinched the Orange League's Class B championship by defeating San Juan Capistrano, 34-19, last night at Anaheim. The Colonists can lose to Garden Grove next Friday and still win the flag.

Other results: Newport Harbor 21, Tustin 17; Garden Grove 16, Brea-Olinda 14; Huntington Beach 27, Orange 17.

Standings:

ORANGE LEAGUE STANDINGS	W.	L.	Pct.
Anaheim	6	0	1.000
Huntington Beach	4	2	.667
Tustin	3	3	.500
Brea-Olinda	3	3	.500

PALMORE STOPS DADO IN L. A. RING SURPRISE

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 11.—(UP)—A 10 to 1 shot came home a winner last night when Baby Palmore, pale-faced Mexican bantamweight, scored a one-round knockout over Speedy Dado in one of the most surprising fights here in years.

Dado, rated in the top rank of championship contenders, was felled one minute and 15 seconds after the opening bell. A short overhand right caught him flush on the jaw. He crumpled to the floor, sought to rise after the count had reached 10 and again collapsed.

Palmore, whose two years in the ring had been restricted largely to the vicinity of his native Ventura, had been regarded as an underdog. He came out of his corner and immediately took the offensive. Dado sparred with him momentarily, then backed away before the fatal blow was struck.

The 19-year-old fighter failed to capture the state crown held by Dado since the fight was billed as a non-titular affair. He weighed 119 and Dado 118.

TROJANS WIN WITH EASE AT STANFORD

PALO ALTO, Feb. 11.—(UP)—University of Southern California, with a tight hold on first place in the Southern division of the Pacific Coast conference, hoped to take a second basketball victory tonight over Stanford.

The Trojans encountered meager opposition in taking last night's contest, 35-17. Nemer featured the scoring attack with 9 points.

Frequent booing from the Stanford stands while Trojan players were attempting to lose free throws caused Coach John Bunn of the Cards to take the floor and make a plea for better sportsmanship.

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

I Would Live It Again, by Mrs. Joseph Benson Foraker was a prominent figure in Ohio politics for many years. Twice he was governor of the state. He ran a third time but legend in Ohio is to the effect that a certain story defeated him. He was speaking in his campaign for a third term as governor and developed this topic: When you have a farm manager who does well with your arm and make money for you and his contract expires what do you do? You rehire him, don't you? And if he continues to make your farm pay when that contract expires you rehire him again, don't you? Here a man from the audience spoke up: But, Governor, what do you do when that man begins to think he owns your farm? That story, epitomizing the feeling of Ohio people toward Governor Foraker after two terms, defeated him. Later he became United States Senator. He lost his seat in the Senate when he came up for re-election when Taft was heading the Republican ticket. The cause of his defeat had its roots in black scandal from which, though he tried, Senator Foraker never purged his career. William Randolph Hearst, just on the eve of the campaign made public the famous Archbold letters which apparently linked Senator Foraker with the Standard Oil company as that company's paid tool in the Senate. Mrs. Foraker retorts that her husband was a genuine wronged man inasmuch as, in spite of the denial by Senator Foraker that the letters proved what they purported to prove, and that he furnished his own proof to the contrary, the original story continued to be repeated and that, coupled with Mr. Taft's attitude at that time, doomed Senator Foraker. Mrs. Foraker's defense of her husband, and her criticism of the late Honorable Howard Taft is a fascinating piece of political history.

No less interesting, however, is a portion of the book which will appeal, probably to an entirely different individual. It is in her description of the conditions in Ohio in her girlhood, with particular emphasis in the descriptions on the "distaff" side. "The epoch," she says, "takes on a picturesque quality, but women were ground up in it, in the ceaseless concern with food, raiment and warmth. I am sure that the modern woman's bolt from the kitchen and the home, so solemnly deplored, has very deep roots in woman's drudgery in the past, in a life that men would have gone down under, would rather than keep it up, gratefully have seen their sex die out." That statement is a bit of prejudice which is not characteristic of the book. The first half of the book is good reading for little girls who are interested in little girls in the past of whose mothers want them to be.

How to Live on Sixty Cents a Week, by Gertrude Stone Brooks South Coast News Publishing Co. men's department" might be interesting in this little book but it ranks for a genuine review; right along with Mrs. Foraker's story of society life in one of the gayest and luxurious periods Washington ever saw, when flowers for a dinner table cost five hundred dollars. Mrs. Brooks is the wife of an attorney in Laguna Beach. The ideas contained in the little bulletin have been successfully tested in our family which includes two small children for two years. Her budget shows how a family of four may live on $2.40 a week. Mrs. Brooks does not recommend her $2.40 budget for the epicurean.

Mrs. Brooks is ingenious. She has a wholesome variety of food in her budget, but after a week of it the individual who didn't want to go off on a real food bust would be one who had never known the joys of food or one who had a chronic stomach ache and didn't care about food.

For Monday this housekeeper suggests for the family whole wheat cereal with honey and canned milk or top milk, sugar, and coffee; for luncheon a half head of lettuce, four apples, one cup of raisins; for dinner bean soup, creamed onions, baked potatoes, eight slices of bread and butter.

For Tuesday cereal again, this time with raisins and coffee; for luncheon a salad of celery and grated carrots, twelve slices of bread and butter; for dinner lima beans, spinach, a grated raw carrot and turnip salad.

For Wednesday breakfast, cornmeal mush with honey and milk; coffee; luncheon, vegetable soup with rice, twelve slices toast and butter; dinner, lima bean soup, salad, (four stalks of celery) and prune pudding.

A novelist recently wrote that a certain one of her characters wasn't ravenously hungry, just hungry enough so that she was thinking of food all the time. On Mrs. Brooks' budget we imagine one would think of food a lot.

It would take a considerable time to starve on Mrs. Brooks' menus. We wish that it could be circulated secretly to people with a very limited supply of food so that they would benefit by its instructions for making their food as palatable as possible while they continue to protest as hard as they can against doing so. It is horrible to limit one's food in such a way when there is the abundance there is all around us.

The Bright Land by Janet Ayer Fairbank, published by Houghton Mifflin Co.

It has been some years since we sat tense over a novel in which an elopement was carried through successfully in spite of a villainous father hot on the trail of the fugitives who suffered many mishaps before they were finally man and wife and lived together happily ever after. "The Bright Land" doesn't stop with the marriage, where the old novels used to stop, but goes on to tell the story of the "happy ever after."

Abigail-Delight is the heroine of the story. She lived a long life and we travel with her through out most of it in this epic of the period when Puritan New England was ceasing to stamp the character of the nation and the heterogeneous west was prominent. Abigail, "Abby-Delight," eloped with Stephan. Stephan was a stranger in Peterborough. In those days an elopement, in defiance of one's father, was the height of adventure. Abby-Delight did it. And then added to the adventure was a journey into the "west," with a man she had only known a short time, and the adventure of living in an entirely different environment. Her new home with Stephan was in Galena, Illinois, the town in which General Grant lived. He doesn't figure much in the story, however, for it will be recalled that Grant didn't figure prominently in the community in which he lived before the Civil War.

The heroine in a charming type, her reserve, her modesty, her cold exterior, her economy were typical of her class and geographic background. For all that the romance is so "ultra" it is more real than girls of today would believe. I can remember hearing a dear little old lady tell of her own romance.

the adventure when she came all the way from Wales to marry her sweetheart somewhere in the west, farther west than Illinois, too. Her story wasn't as full of adventure as Abigail's, for she went off with her father's blessing and arrived safely at the end of her journey according to schedule, but she was able after many years to adequately reconstruct the forebodings which assailed her as she made the journey so that Abigail's story seems very real. Abigail-Delight didn't have much idea about the man she had married and she wondered a great deal about him, particularly when he spent money so prodigally. Then indeed she had misgivings. And when he sent to her hotel room a complete wardrobe including "muslins" she was quite frightened.

Great crocodiles and snakes and eels now swarmed
The surface of the Nile as on it flowed,
While flickering rays of sunshine that had warmed
The earth now faded from the trail and road.

The haunting cry of leopard to his mate
Made shrill the air, uncanny, weird and loud,
Almost it seemed a warning of dire fate.
Soon stars appeared without a trace of cloud.
Then silence thickly fell. No sound of bird
Or cry of lonely beast could be heard.

BLAMES HENRY FORD FOR RECENT STRIKE

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(UP)—B. C. Forbes, economist and writer, today charged Henry Ford with responsibility for the recent strike at various body plants in Detroit.

"The Ford Motor company," he wrote in an editorial in the current issues of Forbes magazine, "is about the worst offender in the whole country in compelling suppliers of materials to cut prices drastically. His extremely hard bargaining compels those doing business with him to squeeze workmen. The company furnishing bodies for his new model, in a desperate effort to avoid losses, forced employees to bear part of the brunt. Workers found their earnings utterly inadequate. Therefore, they rebelled."

Book Review for Newport Society

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 11.—Announcement has been made by officers of the local W. F. M. S. that the next meeting will be held in the woman's parlor of Christ Church by the Sea February 15 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Emma Stroup will be the main speaker on the program, giving a special review of the book, "Lady Fourth Daughter of China." Selected numbers on the flute will be given by R. O. Briggs, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Briggs. Tea will be served following the program.

Mrs. R. E. Cox is president of the organization.

ERNEST TRUEX,
NANCY CARROLL
AT BROADWAY

Two pictures, both of which deserve special praise have been booked into the Fox Broadway theater for four days starting Sunday. One is "Whistling in the Dark," the stage show, now turned talkie, with the original lead, Ernest Truex, who is making his screen debut. The other is Nancy Carroll in "Child of Manhattan."

Early reports on "Child of Manhattan" indicate that the picture is one of the most interesting that has been booked here in a long time. Miss Carroll, who has been working in the east recently, stages a comeback which puts her right back in the line with the most popular stars. She is supported by John Boles and Eddie Buzzell.

"Whistling in the Dark" is well known as a stage play that ran 11 months on Broadway and which was called the best mystery of the year. Full of laughs and mystery, it is the story of a man who planned the perfect crime, taking his pointers from 100 novels he had written. He killed 100 men in as many books but when he attempted to kill one real live man, it was a different story.

Una Merkle, John Miljan, Johnny Hines and Edward Arnold support the star.

COMING SUNDAY
Ernest Truex and Una Merkle in a scene from "Whistling in the Dark," which comes to the Fox Broadway theater Sunday with "Child of Manhattan," starring Nancy Carroll.

'LAWYER MAN' AND MYSTERY COMEDY COMING THURSDAY

An exceptionally strong cast is seen in the new William Powell picture, "Lawyer Man," which is booked into the Fox Broadway theater for three days starting next Thursday. The other feature of the regular double feature bill will be "The Mystery of the Wax Museum."

In "Lawyer Man" is seen Joan Blondell, as the leading lady, in the role of a fast talking, wise cracking secretary, Helen Vinson, Alan Dinehart, David Landau and Ann Brody.

It is the story of a young East Side lawyer, whose falling in love experiences that he knows more about law than he does about women. Miss Blondell has an exceptionally good part, in which she repeatedly tells him of his shortcomings, but who marries him in the end.

A number of new faces are seen in "The Mystery of the Wax Museum," a murder story that has its points. Fay Wray has the lead, but others who have important roles include Glenda Farrell, Frank McHugh, Lionel Atwill. The picture is a story of types, hair raising in its plot and should prove unusual entertainment.

Crowds Swarm "State Fair" Showing Here

Shades of 1929! Patrons of the Fox West Coast theater swarmed there in such great numbers last night to see "State Fair" with Will Rogers and Janet Gaynor, Sally Eilers and others, that an emergency call was sent to the Fox Broadway theater for more ushers to take care of the crowd.

The Broadway, with its own house packed so that persons were turned away for the last show, was not in condition to aid the West Coast, but several ushers were sent anyway.

Depression? Yep, but not when a play like "State Fair" comes to town.

STARRING AT WEST COAST

The leading romancer and the chief comic of the talking screen are seen together in "State Fair," now showing at the Fox West Coast theater. The picture shows for an entire week, and started last Thursday. Above is seen Janet Gaynor and Will Rogers in a scene from the play.

COMING SUNDAY
Ernest Truex and Una Merkle in a scene from "Whistling in the Dark," which comes to the Fox Broadway theater Sunday with "Child of Manhattan," starring Nancy Carroll.

"DYNAMITE RANCH" ON AT WALKER'S

A generous amount of comedy, romance and thrills await the patrons of Walker's State theater tonight with "Dynamite Ranch," another of the famous Kon Maynard western pictures on the screen.

Starting with Ruth Hall, the leading lady, and running through a list of names that includes Alan Roscoe, Martha Mattox, Arthur Hoyt, the supporting cast is one of the finest assembled for a western production.

"Dynamite Ranch" is attracting more than the usual amount of interest for these western pictures.

"TONIGHT IS OURS" COMING THURSDAY

Starting next Thursday, the Fox West Coast theater will present another picture which has been getting much comment wherever it has been shown. It is "Tonight Is Ours," starring Fredric March and Claudette Colbert.

Los Angeles critics have been high in their praise for the film. The other feature to be shown at the same time is "They Just Had to Get Married" with Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts. It was previewed at the Fox Broadway theater here several weeks ago, and is said to be one of the funniest pictures ever made.

SCIOTS DANCE
Santa Ana pyramid, A. E. O. Sciots, will stage a benefit dance, open to the public, in the Moose hall February 15 at 9 p. m. It was announced today by J. O. Smith, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, which will take the form of a Valentine dance. A six-piece orchestra will furnish dance music.

End Showing
B'dway Films
Here Today

Final showing of the two big pictures, "Employees Entrance," with Warren William and "No Other Woman," starring Irene Dunn, will be made at the Fox Broadway theater tonight. The two films opened here on Thursday.

Both pictures are above average. "Employees Entrance" shows William as an executive in a big department store, shows the inside workings of the big store and the story of several lives which depend on the institution for their keep. Romance and every day drudgery rub elbows in this film of suspense and exciting moments. It is one of the best things that William has done.

"No Other Woman" is the story of a girl who is forgotten by her husband after she made him make good; after she brought him from a steel mill to high society. How she fights back and wins in the end makes the story.

"BLESSED EVENT" OPENS THREE DAY RUN AT WALKER'S

For sheer fun and honest entertainment value, "Blessed Event" the Warner brothers comedy drama feature which opens tomorrow at Walker's State theater, must be given front rank.

Headed by Lee Tracy, the cast of "Blessed Event" includes Mary Brian, Ned Sparks, Dick Powell, Frank McHugh and numerous others of note.

The other feature on the program for tomorrow is "Bird of Paradise," co-starring Dolores Del Rio and Joel McCrea.

WILL DO TIME ON FOUR SENTENCES

Sentenced to an indeterminate term of from one to five years in San Quentin Carl E. Sanders who recently pleaded guilty to a burglary charge before Superior Judge James L. Allen will serve that term concurrently with three others for which he was sentenced in Riverside. Judge Allen yesterday notified the prison board that Sanders' sentence from Orange county should run concurrently with the other term.

At the time he was arrested here it was learned that Sanders had escaped from Riverside where he had been arrested on charges of driving an automobile without the owner's consent and grand theft. After his sentence here Sanders was turned over to Riverside county where he was sentenced on the two original counts and a third of escaping from custody.

Sanders sentences from Riverside will run concurrently and are one to five years for driving an automobile without the owners consent; one to 10 years for grand theft; and nothing to 10 years for escaping from custody.

Girls' Ebell Society Elects Officers at Valentine Party

In sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Paul Bailey, general Ebell president, Friday afternoon in her home, 311 East Washington avenue, members of Girls' Ebell society combined a delightful social time with a business session during which new officers were elected.

Miss Ruth Warner was chosen president; Jeannette Klatt, first vice president; Barbara Dunton, second vice president; Barbara Rowland, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Bailey had arranged details of the afternoon in keeping with a valentine theme, decking the mantle and the archway between living and dining rooms with red hearts, varying in size.

At the refreshment hour, the hostess had the assistance of Mrs. E. D. White, vanilla ice cream with red raspberry hearts, small white frosted cakes topped with arrow-pierced hearts, nuts and wafers were served.

General plans were made for a sports dance to be held Friday, March 3. Arrangements are in charge of Roberta Tuthill, chairman, and Mary Lou McFarland and Janet Hollingsworth.

Guests of Mrs. Bailey were Mrs. E. D. White and Mrs. John Tammann, members of the Junior Ebell advisory board, and a group of section members including Janet Diehl, Mary Lou McFarland, Roberta Tuthill, Barbara Dunton, Ruth Warner, Nancy White, Margaret Munroe, Dorothy Proctor, Marjorie Marble, Demaris Peck, Barbara Rowland, Eleanor Leiby, Barbara Lambert, Marjorie Knox, Helena Bailey, Janet Hollingsworth, Betty Jane Moore, Jane Hill, Barbara Davis, Jeannette Klatt, Jean Munroe and Patty Rapp.

Household Section Has Evening Card Party For Husbands

Although members of Fourth Household Economics section of Ebell society did not have as many guests as they had expected at their party complimenting husbands last night in Ebell club lounge, those who were able to be present spent a most enjoyable evening. Illness kept many of the members from taking part.

There were four tables of bridge in play. Mrs. Herbert Krahling and Walter Hickey won attractive prizes for scoring high. Failures distributed for play, and other appointments for the affair were in keeping with a valentine color scheme.

Hostesses were Mrs. A. Thorn-dike and Mrs. Oliver Umberham. A two-course supper was served at the close of card games.

Large Number Attend Elk Women's Party

Fourteen tables of bridge were in session in the Elks club one afternoon this week on the occasion of the card entertainment arranged for the diversion of wives of Elks. Stocks and fernery were used profusely in decoration, the two being combined to form a pleasant floral background for the play.

Mrs. C. V. Davis, whose score topped all others, was rewarded with first prize, a second award going to Mrs. Dean Campbell and a "surprise award" being presented Mrs. Howard Rapp.

Mrs. Edward Voseley and Mrs. Gilbert P. Campbell, assisted by Miss Marie Kreuzen of Los Angeles, a houseguest of the latter, joined in hostess duties. March hostesses will be Mrs. Harvey Gardner and Mrs. J. C. Fluor.

Dinner Party Inspired By Anniversary of A. J. Garrows

A party which anticipated the twenty-second wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Garrows of 1309 South Broadway was the buffet supper given Thursday evening by Colonel W. G. Archer and his daughter, Miss Mary Archer in their lovely new home at 2420 North Park boulevard. St. Valentine's day, Tuesday, will mark the actual anniversary.

The holiday's theme was appropriately suggested in table appointments, tall red tapers and a centerpiece of brilliant red flowers being employed to this end, while individual cakes, suitably lettered, were a special feature of menu and decoration.

A delightful evening of music and travel reminiscence ensued, contributors to the former phase of entertainment being members of the Elks double quartet, guests on this occasion. The quartet sang a number of selections, combining humorous with serious work, and a brief succession of vocal and piano solos completed the informal program.

Miss Archer had the assistance of Miss Betty Garrows in serving the repast.

Participants in this affair were Messrs. and Mesdames A. J. Garrows, guests of honor; J. A. Miller, W. C. Vieira, Hugh Runnels, Fitzhugh Gibbs, Fred Eiler, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sutherland, Dr. and Mrs. Greenwald, Betty Garrows and Ruth Armstrong; Messrs. William Gallene and Jack Garrows, and the host and hostess, Colonel Archer and Miss Archer.

Bride of January Made Honoree at Shower In Conner Home

A recent bride was gracefully feted Wednesday evening when a dozen Santa Anans responded to invitations issued by Mrs. H. W. Conner, 1605 West Fourth street, for a miscellaneous shower honoring the new Mrs. Robert Long. The honoree was Miss Mildred Chamberlain before marriage, January 14.

The red and white color combination in present favor found expression in various decorative details, favors and special appointments resolving the entertainment into a valentine party. Sweetpeas and maidenhair fern likewise were used. Of the several games enjoyed, hearts proved the most popular, prizes in this event being claimed by Mrs. J. O. Thornhill and Mrs. Frank Boyd.

Shower presents had been hidden to be discovered by Mrs. Long after consulting various paper hearts bearing cryptic directions. Donors of the gifts were Mesdames Frank Boyd, J. O. Thornhill, William Tatum, George Ford, C. L. Conner, Percy Fuller, Dick Maher, Alice Long, Edgar Chamberlain, Ethel Ammann, Miss Mary Boyd, Miss Colleen Braden and the hostess, Mrs. H. W. Conner.

Church Young People To Convene Here Next Tuesday

Delegates numbering 150 are expected to attend the district rally of the Regional conference of Congregational League of Youth when this session is called in the First Congregational church of this city, Tuesday evening. Represented at the conferences will be leagues of Long Beach, Whittier, Brea, Norwalk, Montebello, Buena Park and this city.

Proceedings will open at 6:30 o'clock with a pot-luck dinner, with Edward Meador of this city heading the host delegation in duties of reception. Stunts, music and devotions are planned as conference features, local league officers have revealed.

Beverly Oaten of Los Angeles, in charge of Congregational young people's work of the Southern California conference, will be present, and the Rev. Donald Gaylord, adult counselor for young people of the southern district, will lead devotions. An organ recital will be given by Miss Mary Bruner, Edward Meador, Santa Ana, president; Frederick Schrock, Jessie Warburton and Natalie Klein comprise the hospitality committee; Martin Bowman is in charge of the local league's program and Lois Marie Franke is supervising dinner arrangements.

Honored guests were Mrs. Marion B. Wallace, worthy matron of Hermosa chapter; Mrs. Lois Osterman, junior past worthy matron, and Mesdames Dolly Pope, Pearl Hyde, Ethel Brock, Alice White, Charlotte Fleming, Vera Jacoby, Eva McConnell, Eleanor Redmond, Etta D. Sweet, Alice Rugg, Elizabeth Lewis, Leola Allen, Nell Neighbour, Franklin West, Nell Winslow, Jeannette Roepke, Pearl Livesey and the Misses Henrietta Bohling and Mame Havens.

During a business session, conducted in the lounge by Miss Bohling, Circle president, Mrs. Vida Berry was elected treasurer, filling the position left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Ruth Zabel.

Bridge and sewing occupied the remainder of the day, with Mrs. Emma Malr and Mrs. Ada Cave winning high and low prizes for cards, and Mrs. Emma Gammell for sewing.

BRIDAL AND THESPIAN ROLES INDICATED FOR THIS AGGREGATION OF PRETTY GIRLS

MISS BEATRICE BOYD

MRS. FLOYD H. BARKER

MRS. NORTHROP ELLIS

MRS. LAWRENCE PETERSON

MISS BEATRICE BOYD Santa Ana friends of Miss Beatrice Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Boyd, 631 Cypress avenue, have just learned of the betrothal of Miss Boyd and R. Franklin Rowe, son of Mrs. Christina Rowe, Los Angeles, although the engagement was announced in the Kappa Sigma fraternity brothers of Mr. Rowe have been aware of the engagement since mid-January. It was announced at one of the formal functions at which Kappa Sigma men complimented their wives and guests. Miss Boyd has been with the Orange County Automobile club since completing Santa Ana Junior college. Her fiancé, an alumnus of U. C. L. A. and Southwestern Law school, is an attorney of Los Angeles. The wedding will occur March 12 in La Crescenta, with the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, rector of St. Luke's, reading the service.

Barker and his charming bride, formerly Miss Alice Johnson, daughter of Mrs. L. Johnson, 209 West Walnut street, Santa Ana, are ready to take up housekeeping in Brea, where Mr. Barker had a home awaiting their return at 104 1/2 South Walnut street. The young people have announced to their friends that they will be ready to receive them after the middle of the month. The wedding of Miss Johnson and Mr. Barker took place Sunday afternoon, February 5, in the Broadway and Walnut Church of Christ, Santa Ana.

MRS. NORTHROP ELLIS When a student at Pomona college, Mrs. J. H. Northrop Ellis, formerly Miss Edith Lush of Orange, was especially interested in dramatics, and in the year of her graduation played the lead in the senior play, "Outward Bound." Prior to that she had played many prominent roles, including leads in a number of Shakespearean productions. Both Mr. and Mrs.

Ellis are active in Santa Ana Community Players' association, and Mrs. Ellis is to take the role of "Helen Pettigrew" in the next and final production of the Players for the season, "Berkeley Square," to be given Friday and Saturday nights, February 17 and 18, in Ebell auditorium.

MRS. LAWRENCE PETERSON Wedded at the very end of January, Mrs. Lawrence Peterson, formerly Miss Laura Jiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Jiles of West First street, Santa Ana, the most recent event having been a miscellaneous gift shower for which friends assembled in the Jiles home. Mr. Peterson is with the U. S. navy, and his presence at maneuvers in which his ship, the Colorado, was engaged, demanded his return to the vessel very shortly after the wedding. At the expiration of the three weeks' maneuvers, he and his bride will establish their home in Long Beach.

Amber Circle Honors Hermosa Chapter Officers

Acclaimed as one of the loveliest parties which Amber Circle members have held for some time, was that given Thursday afternoon in Masonic temple, with new officers of Hermosa chapter as honored guests.

Tables where a delicious luncheon was served, were brilliantly suggestive of St. Valentine's day. Flowers, hearts, candies, dainty dollies and other appointments combined to carry out a red motif. The table where honor guests were seated was especially attractive, with white sweet peas at each place. Heart-shaped red salads completed the pretty color idea.

Hostesses were Mrs. J. W. Hancock, chairman, and Mesdames Polly Blower, Florence Hawkins, Helen Lurker, Lena Hoyt and Hazel Leonard.

Honored guests were Mrs. Marion B. Wallace, worthy matron of Hermosa chapter; Mrs. Lois Osterman, junior past worthy matron, and Mesdames Dolly Pope, Pearl Hyde, Ethel Brock, Alice White, Charlotte Fleming, Vera Jacoby, Eva McConnell, Eleanor Redmond, Etta D. Sweet, Alice Rugg, Elizabeth Lewis, Leola Allen, Nell Neighbour, Franklin West, Nell Winslow, Jeannette Roepke, Pearl Livesey and the Misses Henrietta Bohling and Mame Havens.

During a business session, conducted in the lounge by Miss Bohling, Circle president, Mrs. Vida Berry was elected treasurer, filling the position left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Ruth Zabel.

Bridge and sewing occupied the remainder of the day, with Mrs. Emma Malr and Mrs. Ada Cave winning high and low prizes for cards, and Mrs. Emma Gammell for sewing.

Conference Speakers Lauded by Local Legion Women

Significant addresses on "Americanism," on "National Defense" and on the membership of the American Legion auxiliary were recalled today by Santa Ana delegates as high points in a valuable session of the Fifth Area, American Legion auxiliary, conducted yesterday in Riverside. Among distinguished guests was Mrs. Lorena Good, state president of the organization.

Most impressive of the speakers, in the estimation of the Santa Ana women, was Mrs. Carrie Baudin of Napa, Americanism, whose address on Americanism, proved so pertinent and was delivered with such force as to command the closest attention of the 197 delegates. Other addresses were presented by Mrs. Ruth Mathebat of Vallejo, vice president of the California department and state membership chairman, and Mrs. Bernice Keyes of San Diego, chairman of the state department of national defense. Mrs. Keyes, just returned from a National Defense conference held in Indianapolis, Ind., was able to present the most recent activity in this direction.

Round table discussions, led by department chairmen, followed the program. In these joined the Santa Ana representatives, Mesdames S. C. Hill, Bert Castoix, George Kellogg, Frank Matthews, Fred Crowell, Fred Marsile, Alma McKay, Charles Leimer, James Scudder, Clay Minix, George Sullivan, A. J. Anderson, Arthur Elk-lund, the Misses Louise Tubbs, Julia McGill and Effie Douglas.

are to telephone Mrs. Means, 2026-W or Mrs. Hazel Ryan, 320-W.

Sarah A. Rounds tent, Daughters of Union Veterans, will have a regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Knights of Pythias hall.

Amistad Members Join In Dinner Event of Much Enjoyment

Beginning their evening's merriment with a covered dish dinner, members of the First M. E. Amistad Sunday school class last night enjoyed the friendly planning of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Vale, at a party held in the Burns home, 451 West Sixth street.

Diners were grouped in four-some around small tables where the appetizing dinner menu was served to the accompaniment of tall red candles, flowers and gay valentine appointments. Indeed the idea throughout the evening, and had made the cleverest kind of tally cards and scarlet heart score pads for the cootie game which succeeded the dinner hour.

Scores kept through the succession of games, showed that Mrs. Marvin Bryte and Mrs. George King were high, while low scores were held by two men, Messrs. Lloyd Smith and George Eberole. The valentine wrapped gifts for the women were an artistic range set and a pyrex dish, while the men were delighted with the amusing selection made by their hostesses.

Sharing the enjoyable event with Mr. and Mrs. Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Vale, were Mrs. George King, teacher of the class, Mrs. Jeannette Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Marvin Bryte, Messrs. and Mrs. James Richard, Howard, George Lawrence, Floyd Smith, Fred Helm, Lantham Wells, George Eberole, M. Linthicum, Cecil Marks and Gilbert Brown.

Jaysee Skating Party Is Hilarious Event In Our Village

Proof that junior college students still enjoy the pleasures of childhood was given Thursday night when members of the college O. K. club held a skating party at Laguna Beach.

Stunts and games as well as spills provided excitement and fun for the skaters. Prizes were awarded in potato races to Miss Mabel Peoples and Herbert Diebel, while Howard Randalls and Clifford Bates received prizes for proving superior in other contests. Refreshing punch and wafers were served at the conclusion of the evening.

Those joining in the amusing evening were Miss Dorothy Decker, Miss Genevieve Humiston, Melvin Wiseman, Paul Hansen, Paul Woods, Howard Randalls, Miss Marjorie Kronk, Miss Ruth Collins, Miss Mildred Johnson, Clifford Bates, Robert DePree, Chet Ewing, Miss Kay Patrick, Russell Harrington, Herbert Diebel, Jack Steadman, Sam Churchill, Guy Burris, Miss Mabel Peoples, Herbert King, Miss Catherine Cornwell, Irving Corrier, Miss Lilah Erben-traut, James Hardwick and Miss Virginia Hopper.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL
EAT AND GROW SLIM
Dinner
Tomato soup, 1 cupful; slice of boiled beef, or roast lamb, or 3 small lamb chops.
Eight tablespoons lady cabbage; 1/8 cup thin cream for dressing cabbage.
Small baked potato.
Salad: sliced orange, heart of lettuce, mineral oil mayonnaise.
Black coffee or a clear tea, no sugar.

This menu looks like a lot of food but actually the articles are mostly space fillers, chiefly valuable for vitamins and various natural minerals that keep us well and happy.

Tomato soup: Add tomato sauce to beef broth, or heat, add a pinch of soda and add to one cupful of hot skim milk. Season to taste.

Lady cabbage: Shred cabbage, cook in salted boiling water eight minutes, drain, and dress with hot cream salt and pepper.

Calory total—325.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Creamed Liver on Toast
1 cup chopped cooked liver
1 medium sized onion, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped pepper
4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup top milk
Salt, pepper and paprika
1 tablespoon steak sauce

Good beef liver, moderate in price, is our selection for this dish. Buy in one piece, wash in cold water, plunge into boiling water, cover and simmer until tender. A bay leaf and a few peppercorns, possibly a clove of garlic, add to flavor too. Chill the liver and chop fine when cold.

Run onion and green pepper through the food chopper and cook very slowly with the butter until the onion is soft but not brown. To this part add the flour, stir well, add the top milk and cook to a nice sauce.

Season with steak sauce, or cooking sherry if you have it, salt, pepper, and paprika. Add the chopped liver and keep over hot water until ready to serve.

Make six slices of thin buttered toast. Cut in triangles, line sides and bottom of a platter, pour on creamed liver and serve at once.

There are portions for four in this recipe, and the calories total approximately 1850.

When you make cocktail sauce for any sort of a sea food cocktail you ever add one or two tablespoonsful of mayonnaise to the catsup? The mayonnaise does wonders for these dressings. Try this combination for a cocktail. (Serves eight).

1/2 pound fresh shrimp

1/2 small can tuna fish, flaked
Salt, pepper and lemon juice
Cocktail sauce

Wash the shrimp, combine with the tuna flakes, season, mix with cocktail sauce and chill for 30 minutes before serving. A slice of lemon goes with the cocktail to table.

Garden Grove Hostess Makes Santa Ana Party Honoree

Mrs. Leighton Phillips, 515 North Flower street, was complimented with a surprise shower Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Wayne Reafnyder, Garden Grove. Mrs. Esther Guyton Privett and Miss Helen Knox assisted Mrs. Reafnyder in her duties as hostess.

Tables were arranged for bridge. First prize was awarded to Miss Lucille Harbottle and second to Mrs. Vernon Bruederle. When the prizes were being awarded, the honoree was presented with a large box decorated with hearts and crepe paper streamers. This box contained a number of dainty gifts.

At the refreshment hour the menu was in keeping with the valentine motif expressed in other details of the evening. Those present were Mrs. Leighton Phillips, Miss Blanche Lewis and Mrs. Miles Privett, Santa Ana; Mrs. Vernon Bruederle, Mrs. Donald Arrowsmith, Mrs. Ray Reafnyder, Mrs. Rodney Collins, Miss Lucille Harbottle, Miss Helen Knox and Mrs. Wayne Reafnyder, Garden Grove.

Golf Tournament Plan Excites Interest of Women Players

Sharing interest with Thursday's varied events among feminine golf players at Santa Ana Country club were the plans for a "pork and beans contest" to be introduced at an early date, for players of all three classes, A, B and C.

In this event, players with the same handicap will be teamed and at the close of the contest the group of winners will be honored by the group of losers at a dinner to be given in the Country club.

Class A winners in the low ball contest conducted Thursday were Mrs. Charles V. Doty and Mrs. J. LaMont McFadden, while of the selective nine, Mrs. McFadden, Mrs. Hugh Shields and Mrs. E. K. Gerhardt tied.

Mrs. Don Andrews took first place in Class B, with Mrs. Walter Prince, second, while in Class C, Mrs. E. T. Mateer and Mrs. R. G. Cartwright took first and second place.

The day brought to a close the 54-hole tournament for Class A, and Miss Marguerite Way took first low gross, with Mrs. J. L. McFadden second. Mrs. Gordon Albert took third low net, and Miss Lolita Mead, second, Class A. Players present for the end of the tournament were Mesdames Hugh Shields, E. K. Gerhardt, Norbert Lentz, John McDonald, Gordon Talbert, L. J. Bushard, Osman Pixley, Walter McClure, Charles V. Doty, J. LaMont McFadden, Miss Marguerite Way and Miss Lolita Mead.

Class B members present were Miss L. Pomeroy, Mesdames Charles Chapman, Don Andrews, Edwin B. Van Meter and Walter Prince. Class C players were Mesdames Charles Cogan, Oscar Lamb, M. N. Thompson and R. G. Cartwright.

Club Members Have Monthly Bridge Party

Santa Ana Country club members enjoyed a few hours of cards last night when they held their monthly bridge party in the clubhouse, with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langley of Santa Ana and Mrs. Mrs. T. B. Talbert of Huntington Beach, as hosts.

Winners in play were Mrs. J. B. Roberts and Howard Rapp, who scored high; Mrs. Don Andrews and Commander I. F. Landis, second, and Mrs. B. J. MacMullen, third.

Refreshments of sandwiches, wafers and coffee were served following the awarding of prizes. Guests completed the enjoyable evening with additional card games and dancing.

Ebbel Entertainer Will Give Unique Review Of Stage Play

Departing from their customary program plan of musical events or a speaker, program committee members of Santa Ana Ebbel society are to present Miss Beatrice Edmonds in an interpretative drama review next Monday afternoon in the clubhouse auditorium.

Miss Edmonds comes with unusually high recommendations as an entertainer, her method of reviewing the selected play, being to present each character of the cast so that an audience is given practically the same interesting experience as that of seeing the play as given in a theater by a full cast.

For Monday's program she has chosen "Another Language," described as a play of homely family life, written by Rose Franken and Arthur J. Beckhard. There are eleven characters in the cast, affording Miss Edmonds fine opportunity to display her gifts of characterization.

"Another Language" was selected by Burns Mantle, well-known eastern critic, as one of the ten best plays of the year. Mantle issues a book of the ten best plays annually, and playwrights are well aware of the signal honor of having one of their productions included in the volume. Ebbel society members may congratulate themselves upon their opportunity to hear Miss Edmonds' review of the drama.

The review will follow the short business meeting to be called by Mrs. Paul Bailey, president, promptly at 2 o'clock.

Harmony Bridge Club

Assembling in the home of Mrs. Larry Golden, 709 Oak street, this week, women of the Harmony Bridge club were guests of Mrs. Golden and of her co-hostess, Mrs. Lee Boyle, at their customary period of card play. A comparison of tallies late in the afternoon resulted in the awarding of prizes to Mrs. Augusta Whisenand; high, Mrs. Harvey Dimmitt, second high, and Mrs. Vada Pankey, third high.

Attending the meeting were Mesdames Al Adrain, James Austin, John Bruns, B. E. Dawson, William Dean, Harvey Dimmitt, Lloyd Folger, Ray Foust, Max Gowsky, A. W. Getchell, S. J. Herisher, Amanda Holmes, Sam Jernigan, O. Keseman, Roland Kloss, H. G. Lycan, Elizabeth Clark, Elton Roehm, George Shippe, Ray Spaug, Joe Steele, Maude Swarthout, William Sylvester, Augusta Whisenand, Walter Ramsey, Nellie Young, Helen Umberham, Effie Neuschwanger, John Moore, Eudora Van Aken, Vada Pankey, Imogene Maxwell, Hugh Henry, John Ryan and the hostesses, Mrs. Golden and Mrs. Boyle.

Friendly Neighborhood Group Conspires in Party Plans

So well arranged was a pleasant party of the past week in the F. R. Schweitzer home, 1024 Kilson drive, that Mrs. Darcy Crosby, for whom the affair was planned, never suspected that it was anything but an impromptu meeting of her Kilson drive neighbors, with her own presence fully as much a matter of chance as she deemed theirs to be.

Arrival of the guests was followed by an interesting contest in which all joined to assemble a jag-saw puzzle which proved to be cunning baby pictures mounted on pale blue hearts. Little Miss Olive Eleanor Schweitzer, daughter of the home, did her part in entertaining by playing a succession of piano solos. Olive Eleanor is recognized as one of the most gifted child musicians in the city, and her interpretation of "Hark! Hark! the Lark" (Schubert-Liszt); "The Harmonica Player" by Gulon, and MacDowell's "Witches Dance," was enjoyed by everyone present.

Dainty individual cakes, laid in pink and white, with rosebuds surrounding the word "Baby" traced in pink, were served with tea. Mrs. Crosby, who had inspired all these pleasant things, received further evidence of the affection and interest of her neighbors when Miss Olive Eleanor appeared wheeling her doll carriage, and paused where the honor guest was seated. The latter discovered that a daintily wrapped and tied package contained a charming gift from the assembled guests (Sunday), to be added to the layette she is preparing.

Neighbors who joined in this happy party and its gift, were Mrs. F. R. Schweitzer and her little daughter, Mrs. Thomas McAdoo, Mrs. Jack Morrison, Mrs. C. E. Hyatt, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, Mrs. C. M. Toney, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. Irene McAdoo, Mrs. Donald C. Crockett, Mrs. Kenneth Lough-ton, and the party honoree, Mrs. Darcy Crosby.

YOU and Your Friends

Miss Ruby Belcher, 410 West Second street, whose marriage to Charles W. Jones will take place February 24, motored to Venice today, with a party of Santa Ana friends, to attend the shower given in her honor this afternoon by Mrs. E. E. Ulrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ulrich, Lemon Heights, and a student at Santa Ana Junior college, was resting comfortably today at St. Joseph's hospital where yesterday he underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis. He had been in his usual health up to a few hours before the operation when he was seized with acute appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis C. Diehl, of 1714 Heliotrope drive, will have a housewarming next week Mrs. John Bantz of Hettlinger, N. D. Mrs. Bantz, who is now visiting her mother, Mrs. George Hemling, in Hollywood, was called to California by the illness of her father, who passed away in a Hollywood hospital two weeks ago. Mrs. Bantz, who will remain in California until the middle of March, was in Santa Ana last week with her mother and with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hemling, and their daughter, Beverly Anne, all of Hollywood. All were guests in the Diehl home.

Mrs. James Vinson, worthy high priestess of Damascus White Shrine, accompanied by Mr. Vinson, and other members of the organization, will go to San Bernardino tonight to attend a reception honoring Mrs. Nell E. Levin, supreme worthy high priestess.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Jesus Teaching by Parables

Text: Mark 4:1-10, 13-20
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Feb. 12.BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist.

The picture of Jesus teaching by the seaside is one that has taken a very firm hold on the minds of men. It has done much to emphasize the unconventional place and methods of Jesus in the world of religious teaching, and in the minds of thoughtful men and women. It has given a healthy out-of-doors aspect to the teaching and to the religious life and fellowship of which Jesus is the head.

Here in our lesson we find Jesus not only teaching in the out-of-doors but drawing the lessons from the world of daily life and experience. It is the parable of the sower going forth to sow, scattering his seed broadcast in the manner that was prevalent throughout the ages before our modern era of machinery.

Under this method much seed was inevitably wasted, or fell in places where it had not the same opportunity as in good or fruitful soil.

The parable has come down to us through the ages with the title, "The Parable of the Sower," but in reality it is not so much the parable of the "sower" as the parable of the "ground" or the parable of the "hearer." The lesson of the parable as Jesus himself interpreted it is not "take heed how ye sow," but "take heed how ye receive the seed; take heed how ye hear." And there is the suggestion in the parable that, unlike the material ground in which seed is sown, human hearts may be prepared to receive the seed which is the "word."

We can determine for ourselves, as we come in contact with the seeds of truth that God scatters for us, whether our hearts shall be stony ground, or ground where thorns and weeds give the seed little opportunity for growth, or ground prepared by humility and prayer to receive the truth and to let it have rooting and growth in our lives.

The interpretation of the parable needs little more than Jesus himself gives to it. It is one of the few parables in which we have our Lord's own comment and interpretation. If we fail in receiving all that the parable has for us, the fault is ours rather than the lack of clear instruction.

What it means is that if we allow the cares of the world and the deceitfulness of riches, or what corresponds to these things in our particular environment, to have such place in our hearts and lives that God's truth can have little power over us, we are rendering our lives as fruitless and useless as rocky ground, or desert, would be for the growth of a crop.

The parable is no less striking, or applicable, because we have changed in these modern times our methods of sowing and growing and harvesting. One might say, in fact, only that the parable has large and fuller application; for the very advancement of the world in which we live has brought to us larger opportunity and a more beneficent showering of the words of truth and life.

With this, however, has come, also, an increase of the things that corrupt, and mislead, and choke the "word"; so that the parable comes to us today with as much freshness and reality as it came to that little company that listened to Jesus beside the sea.

Would God that in city, or farm, or wherever we may be found, we might take the "word" into our hearts and profit by the simple truth that Jesus taught!

COME to CHURCH

In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth, but the earth was empty, barren and formless, and the darkness covered everything. So God said: "Let there be light!" And He separated darkness from the light, and called one Night and one Day.

Then God caused vast continents to rise out of the seas, and from the soil of these lands grass and trees and flowers to spring forth. Thereafter he set lights in the heavens, stars and planets, to divide time into seasons. The greater light brightened the day, while the lesser light illumined the night.

Then God filled the seas with an abundance of living creatures, and caused birds to wing through the skies. And He said: "Let the earth bring forth cattle and creeping things and beasts of the field and forest!" And it was so.

Finally, God created man, in his own image, and after his own likeness—both male and female. And He blessed them with dominion over all the earth, and over all the living creatures that moved in sky or sea or over the land.

And when God had surveyed all of his labors of the six days, He saw that it was very good.

So on the seventh day the Creator rested, for His work was finished, and he blessed the seventh day and made it holy.

COWBOY EVANGELIST CLOSING CAMPAIGN

J. C. Kellogg, known as the Cowboy Evangelist, who has been conducting a three-weeks revival campaign at the Four Square Gospel tabernacle, will close his campaign tomorrow with three services. He is issuing an invitation to everyone to attend these services.

Kellogg has conducted a series of evangelistic Bible conferences at the tabernacle that has attracted hundreds of Santa Ana people to the church. He has spoken to well filled houses every night and three times on Sunday. His services tomorrow will be at 10:45 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

The Rev. J. H. Bostrom, who has been conducting a series of revival meetings at the old Temple theater, corner of Third and Bush streets, has announced that he will continue his campaign here for another week. At the Sunday afternoon service he will talk on "The Burning Bush," and at the evening service his topic will be "The Scarlet Worm." A group of young people from the Southern California Bible school in Pasadena will be present for the Sunday night service and present a musical program.

Monday night Bostrom will conduct a divine healing service. An added feature of every service is the singing of spirituals by the Stokes Colored quartet. This group of singers is a part of the Bostrom party.

University Day To Be Observed At Baptist Church

The annual University of Redlands Sunday will be observed tomorrow at the morning service of the First Baptist church, according to an announcement by the pastor, the Rev. Harry E. Owings. Prof. W. E. Rafferty of the Christian education department will be the speaker and will give information concerning the work of the Baptist University of the Southwest.

A special invitation is being extended all alumni and friends of the institution to attend this service. An invitation is also extended to young people who are planning to attend college within the next year or two.

Beach Resident At Gettysburg For Speech of Lincoln

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 11.—Lester H. Young, 37, Civil war veteran, a resident of California for 59 years and at present a citizen of Newport Beach, stated yesterday that on Lincoln's birthday anniversary he is reminded of the time when, as a Union soldier 18 years of age, he stood before the great emancipator as he gave his famous Gettysburg address.

Mr. Young states that he was so impressed by the speech that at the time he could repeat it word for word.

County Firemen Meet February 20 In Newport Beach

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 11.—Frank Crocker, chief of the Newport Beach fire department, stated today that the next Orange County Fireman's association meeting will be held here in the main auditorium of Christ Church by the Sea, February 20. The program will include speaking and music, followed by refreshments of coffee and doughnuts.

LATIN CLUB MEETS
GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 11.—Members of the second year Latin club of the high school gathered at the home of Leroy Christensen recently for a pot-luck dinner, which was followed by a social evening.

Those present were the Misses Joy and Fern Schnitzer, Margaret Phillips, Virginia Stroud, Helen Christie, Maxine McConnell, Gertrude Allen, Dorothy Barnes and Isami Masuda, Carroll Clinegan, Ansel Lewis, Leroy Christensen, and the instructor, Miss Gladys Hidden.

Patriotic Program By Young Men at Christian Church

Evening services at the First Christian church tomorrow will be a patriotic program, marking the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. Services will be in charge of two classes of young men from the Sunday school, taught by M. D. Haskell and A. W. Gerrard.

Larry Taylor will speak on "Washington as a Young Man," and Carl Allison will speak on "Lincoln as a Young Man." Edward Wickersham will lead in a responsive reading, and the evening prayer will be given by Francis Hall and the scripture reading by John Taylor. The young men will be in charge of the music for the evening, and Mrs. R. S. Briggs will give a short organ program before the service.

At the morning service the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan will speak on "The Second Fiddle," and Charles Hill will sing a tenor solo. The choir will present a special anthem.

Joint Services For Yorba Linda Churches Sunday

YORBA LINDA, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Gertrude Reece will talk at the Friends church at Yorba Linda Sunday morning at 11 o'clock on "India." She was formerly a missionary there, and will appear in costume. The women's chorus will sing.

Both the Methodist and the Friends church will unite in the evening service, at the Methodist church, where the Rev. Crawford Trotter, pastor, will talk on "Abraham Lincoln," in celebration of Boy Scout week, being observed from February 8 to 14.

Norman Schwab, one of the Oxford group now conducting services at the University of Southern California and at the Biltmore hotel, will talk at the Methodist church in the morning.

Bridge Enjoyed In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 11.—A 7 o'clock dinner was enjoyed by a group of friends in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Woodworth on West Stanford Thursday evening. The guests were seated at a table centered with red carnations and tall red tapers. The valentine motif prevailed in the nut cups, place cards and tallies used in the bridge games which followed the dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson were awarded an attractive prize for high score in bridge.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ver Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Woodworth.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Tomorrow is the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. He is the one character in American history whose spirit and genius seem to increase in magnitude and power with each succeeding year.

Lincoln was a man of deep sympathy. It was a sympathy that made him indeed a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief. And his heart went out to humanity as a whole—to the poor, to the down-trodden and to the oppressed. We can well imagine that if this great character were to come into the presidency on the 4th of March, this year, with conditions as they are, he would see the suffering millions in a manner that would inspire his energies to effective aid.

Lincoln personally labored. He plowed corn; he hewed trees; he split rails; he chopped wood; he surveyed; he carried physical burdens; he clerked in stores—he knew the common touch. It probably was this which caused him to say:

Inasmuch as most good things are produced by labor, it follows that all such things of right belong to those whose labor has produced them. But it has so happened in all ages of the world that some have labored and others have without labor enjoyed a large proportion of the fruits. This is wrong and should not continue.

To secure to each laborer the whole product of his labor, or as nearly as possible, is a worthy object of any good government.

And then he emphasized labor in connection with capital:

Labor is prior to and independent of capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and never could have existed if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital and deserves much the higher consideration.

We are quoting this from Mr. Lincoln not because it is new, or because others do not say it, but we are quoting it because Mr. Lincoln, before we had reached the present situation, where contrasts are so great, saw the principles involved almost in their beginnings.

Abraham Lincoln was a man of deep charity. We doubt if he would be carried away by the jingo spirit of today, as it endeavors to arouse hatred against other people through extreme nationalism. When Mason and Slidell were captured on their way to England, and taken from the British ship, the United States officers were made the heroes of popular acclaim, but Lincoln did not cheer. He saw the fundamental principles involved, and avoided conflict with Great Britain, both because we had enough trouble, and because England's position was correct.

We need Lincolns in spirit today. It is well that we have such characters, on whose lives we may meditate. We should, in such meditations, increase our patriotism and devotion to the underlying principles of lives such as his.

WHAT IS THE FARMER GOING TO DO?

The situation of the farmer is becoming increasingly intolerable. With farm commodities at the lowest prices for a generation, he is faced with higher taxes and impossible debts. The buying power of his products from 1910 to November, 1932, has decreased from the index number of 100 in 1914 from 106 to 51, about 100 per cent. Debts have piled up on farms to the enormous extent of nine and a half billions of dollars. About three billions of this amount is held by individuals, who are dependent upon the interest derived therefrom for their livelihood. In many cases, at a foreclosure sale, the farms would not bring the amount of the mortgage. Taxes have increased nearly 100 per cent since 1910; crop returns have decreased about 45 per cent; land values are about what they were in 1910; while debts have soared nearly 200 per cent.

It is not difficult to visualize the problem of the farmer in the light of these facts. And the question facing the country is, What is to be done with this situation? Debt payments and interest payments are impossible. With the stagnation of industry, there is no prospect of rise in the price of commodities. Legally, foreclosures can be made. But what then? Are our farmers to be reduced to the state of a landless peasantry? Such seems to be the only outcome of the matter unless something can be done to correct this direful condition.

Two proposals have been made. The first, to inflate the currency, and thus lift commodity prices. This will cheapen the dollar, which will apparently work great hardship to many of the creditor class. The second, to scale down the debts to a sum which may reasonably be expected can be paid; or, if not that, a scaling down of the interest rate. The farmers say that this will work no injustice, since if the debts were cut in two, the creditor would still have the same buying power with his reduced amount as he had with the full amount when the mortgage was given. This is actually so.

It is idle to expect an immediate solution of the farmer's problem by either of these measures. In the meantime, the only thing left to save the farmer from losing his place is a moratorium on his debts. Time may work out a solution not now possible. If not a moratorium, some act of government will be necessary to meet the situation. In Iowa a bill has been enacted creating a moratorium for two years; in Wisconsin, a bill to create a moratorium is already under discussion. Similar measures have been or are to be introduced in the legislatures of other states. Unless such action is taken, it is more than likely that the farmers will take the matter into their own hands, as they are already beginning to do in many places. Direct action is always to be dreaded. The moratorium seems to be the one thing left to do.

PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER TO TALK ON RADIO

We note that a daughter of the president has permitted herself to be offered to advertisers as a speaker on commercial radio programs. Her mother, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, was engaged by these advertisers, but she had the good taste, as the "First Lady of the Land," to cancel all such engagements. We wish this same spirit had guided the daughter in her decision, for it could hardly be believed that, unknown as she is, she would have a value to the advertisers, apart from her relationship to the family of our national Chief Executive.

It is possible, in the midst of investigations of extreme wrong-doing, state and national, that we should hardly make reference to a small matter like this, about which the worst that could be said is that it may be in poor taste.

The European Whirligig
News Behind World News
By John Statesman

FRANCE—France's economic and financial troubles are sharply critical. The Chamber of Deputies is unable to get together even on the most essential problems.

Daladier—the new Premier—will encounter the same difficulties as Paul-Boncour in a more acute form and will meet the same fate. Other feeble and transitory ministries can be expected to follow. The French recognize the urgent necessity for a stable government but are still unable to agree on a leader. Talk of Jeanneney—identified with the Right—is increasing as the only man who could put together a ministry that would last. He is President of the Senate and is held in high regard for his integrity and fairness.

LEAGUE—The Roosevelt victory has revived comment in the European press that the United States will sooner or later enter the League of Nations. Informed European opinion realizes that the chances are very slim and believes that America can best serve the cause of peace by staying outside the League.

This feeling is based on the futility of the League in dealing with treaty violations. It was really formed as a sort of Holy Alliance of military conquerors and even the later admission of the conquered did not change its essential character. The strangled members—France, Italy, England and Japan—have all put over high-handed acts without effective protest from the League. Its latest weakness in dealing with the Sino-Japanese dispute has shown up its impotence as an instrument of peace.

Here is a partial list of treaty violations at which the League has winked:

Vilna is supposed to belong to Lithuania but Poland holds it by force.
The Italian Government occupied Corfu.
England broke its agreement with Egypt.
Upper Silesia was split up against treaty and plebiscite.
The Ruhr was occupied contrary to treaty.

France has had as many as 8,000 soldiers in the Saar in direct violation of the Treaty of Versailles. Always the League has talked much and done nothing. As an educator of world opinion it is a certain amount of accomplishment. But the United States educates world opinion without the futilities of League compromises.

FRANCE-ITALY—Relations between Italy and Jugoslavia are becoming more strained. Every day new sources of friction develop. France is allied and has a military accord with Jugoslavia but Italy officially ignores these facts and ostensibly gives France a free hand there. At the same time Italian Fascism makes small concealment of its designs on French territory.

Senator de Jovenel's visit as ambassador of good will has been without results. The Italian press remains cold and hostile. Herriot recently wrote: "I have completely failed to attain my wish for better relations with Italy. For the present there is no hope in this direction." Paul-Boncour told a friend who asked him about M. de Jovenel's mission: "It's just wasted effort and Italian Fascism will follow its own road to the end."

FASCISTS—Fascism becomes in all things more intransigent and the dictatorship more rough. Not only are members of the Senate and the Assembly nominated by the Government and all the forms of free election abolished, but even the small local administrations are entirely in the hands of the Fascist machinery. Of course the press may print nothing without official approval.

A recent official decree announces that all posts in the service of the state will hereafter be reserved exclusively for members of the Fascist party. No one will be permitted even to compete for such a job unless he can produce a party registration card. Such a policy has sometimes been adopted in countries where political conditions created an emergency but this is the first time in modern history that it has been given the force of legal sanction.

INDULGENCES—The declaration by Pope Pius XI that 1933 will be a "Holy Year" took Europe by surprise. There is nothing in Catholic tradition to account for it. There is much in economic conditions to make the designation a matter of interest.

The faithful who visit Rome during the Holy Year—April 2, 1933-April 2, 1934—will be granted full remission of sins if they make three visits to one or more of the Roman churches designated for the purpose. The encyclical provides that this can be accomplished by visiting the same church three times in one day. At the same time all indulgences are suspended in all other churches throughout the world. A voyage to Rome is the only way in which remissions may be secured.

The day that L'Osservatore Romano published the encyclical also announced the formation of a committee under Vatican auspices to encourage tourist trips to Rome. All the tourist agencies of Italy have been mobilized to develop the movement. But there is no certainty as to the financial success of the Jubilee under present world conditions of impoverishment.

ENGLAND—David Lloyd George at 70 is still busy pouring forth political vitriol in speeches, articles and interviews. He carries on although his only following in the House of Commons consists of three members of his family. His theme song is the collapse of the Liberal Party, which he says has no further reason to exist since it has abandoned free trade principles.

It is true that the Liberal Party has nearly disappeared but Lloyd George himself and as much to do with that as anyone. All his political life he has been very adept at swapping policies but has always leaned to socialism rather than traditional British Liberalism. The present day Liberals—aside from the tiny Lloyd George group—are nothing more than Conservatives who still pay lip service to former party principles.

The Labor party, whose membership in the House of Commons grew from 42 before the war to 289 at the peak of its success has a much better chance of a comeback in spite of its crushing defeat in the 1931 elections. The Liberals are so sterile politically that England now has really a two-party political system.

GRAND OPERA

When starving tenors droop and die
Upon the opera stage,
Although the oboes sadly sigh
And trombones growl and rage,
They look too husky and well fed
To rouse my anguished grief;
The pretense that they're ill or dead
Seems quite beyond belief.

And when the basso in the plot
Has done somebody wrong,
I can't help thinking he should not
Express his hate in song.
Accompanied by loud bassoons
It's unconvincing stuff.
For people do not warble tunes
When they've been acting rough.

Nor does the diva wake a sigh
When, in a quivering tone,
She says she's been deserted by
A puny baritone.
When she could pick up by the neck
A couple of such gents
And hurl them forth to make a wreck
Of half the audience.

I may be dumb; I doubtless am,
But you'll excuse me, please.
If I don't give a tinker's dam
For actors such as these.
I like the music, when it's good.
I'd like the actors too
If any of them ever would
Behave like people do.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

OUR GREAT WORLD BLUNDER

It has been said that Woodrow Wilson compromised principle after principle in order to get the League of Nations into the Treaty of Versailles.

It has been said that he did this on the theory that, if it was impossible to get a thoroughly good treaty at the time, it was better to get an imperfect treaty plus an international agency that might later correct the situation than to give up the ghost and withdrawing into a delusive isolation, leave the way open for a peace of stark reprisals unmitigated by any new international machinery that might later be captured by constructive forces and turned to creative account.

In the long reaches of historic judgment, this well be looked upon in either of two ways:

(1) As a short-sighted selling out of the liberal hopes of an awakened world.

(2) As an act of far-sighted statesmanship that chose rather to keep the door to the future open even slightly than to permit its being slammed shut and locked only to be broken down later by riotous revolution that would be no respecter of frontiers.

Despite innumerable disagreements in judgment with Mr. Wilson's compromise and conclusions, I choose to think the latter.

Regardless of the short-comings of the Treaty of Versailles, and they were many, by withdrawing from the common pact and making a separate peace with the Central Powers, we seriously delayed the modernization of world politics and struck a blow at our own economic interests from which we are now only beginning to feel the full impact.

We should, I think, have fared better to have had our hand in even the bad bargain of Versailles than, by affecting to stand aloof, to be dragged, as we are today, being dragged, at the heels of forces and fears over which we can exert no measure of control of their source.

It is my soberly considered judgment that, had the United States assumed and maintained an official relation to the Versailles settlement, despite its betrayal of political idealism and its blindness to economic realism, much of the maladjustment and misery that have since wracked the world might have been avoided.

Our power was so great and our potential influence on European policy, by virtue of our creditor relation to the war debts, so enormous that, granted a realistic intelligence at the helm in Washington, we could have played a decisive role in the reconstruction of the political, social, and economic relationships and enterprises of the world.

As it is—let us be honest—we have delayed this reconstruction.

How to do penance for this blunder and to beat our way back to realism in our foreign policy is one of the more stubborn issues confronting Mr. Roosevelt.

USEFUL ILLNESS

"How early in his life can a child take advantage of his illness to make people do as he likes?" asks a weary mother of a child of two.

Just as soon as the first illness strikes him and people make way for him and his needs. It is pleasant to find all rules and regulations set aside for your whim. It gives one a great feeling of power. Even the youngest child thrills to the idea of making the big people hop around at a signal.

A sick baby is a pitiful, helpless creature, entirely dependent upon his elders for care and cure. The whole household steps aside for his welfare. Meals are at odd hours. Lights burn far into the night. Bells are muffled and footsteps are hushed. We go and come again at the gesture of a helpless suffering infant. For the time he is the center of the universe and our lives revolve about his.

By and by he begins to get better. Instead of his demands becoming fewer they increase. He frets at the slightest delay and we run to do his bidding lest he raise a temperature. He refuses to eat on time or to eat what he needs. He wants special treatment from now on because he has had it and liked it.

There is only one thing to be done. Let the child get well as fast as nature permits. Remove all signs of sickness the first possible moment. Put the medicine bottles and the thermometer and the sprays and hot water bottles out of sight and don't mention them. Leave the child to himself as much as possible. If someone sits beside him and entertains him all day long he will not wish to get well and get about to be a burden to himself again. If the grownups will carry him without effort on his part he is willing. He delays getting well.

Some children are experts at prolonging illness. I have known children to be semi invalids for years because once they had an operation, tied the whole family to their distressed condition, found it pleasant and decided to hold on to the cause of their felicity.

Keep suggesting health. Keep reminding the convalescent child or adolescent about the good things he is missing. Bring cheerful tales of joyous activities that are going on outside the sickroom. Allow the hearty healthy schoolmates to visit as soon as the patient can stand their visits. Withdraw the privileges of invalidism as soon as the physician will permit you to do so. There is a strong mental factor in convalescence. One has to will to get well or one does not get well. Children have to be stimulated into that attitude of mind because they like being petted. Grown people usually have too much responsibility to prolong an illness but even they sometimes fall back on it as a refuge from the stresses of everyday living.

Once a child is on his feet again forget the illness. Don't make it a topic of conversation. It's over. Let it be so. Children like to have you grow excited all over again, love to hear you tell how you could scarcely stand up on your feet when the doctor looked at the thermometer and said, "He must go to the hospital at once!"

Forget it. When the child says: "And what happened then, mother," just say, "And then you got well."
